Treasury Secretary Asks 3½-Billions in New Taxes, Feels Sure of Public Favor

Cites 'Small Price' Morgenthau Says He Knows Americans Will Realize Need

Washington, April 24 (P)—Secretary Morgenthau asked congress today for $3,500,000,000 new taxes, greater defense production, reduced non-defense spending, and safeguards against profiteering.

"We are faced with a greater challenge than any in the history of the republic," the treasury head told the House ways and means committee. "It calls for a much greater response than has yet been made."

"The American people are prepared to make such a response as to make it willingly."

"How much is it worth to be a free man living in a free land?"

"The American people are willing to pay that price."

Morgenthau made no specific recommendations about how the new taxes should be raised in his formal statement. He said others would present the treasury's viewpoint.

These treasury proposals have been reported at the capital to provide steep increases in income surtaxes which may force many persons to pay six times as much income tax as before, and also to put either new or additional taxes on soft drinks, liquor, cigarettes, gasoline and many other commodities.

Termining the proposed tax increase "unprecedented," Morgenthau said "the new taxes will seem a small price to pay for the security of the nation to be insured by the defense program."

Together with existing taxes which may make the nation's total federal tax bill in the next fiscal year (beginning July 1) about $12,600,000,000, the secretary said "we shall find ourselves spending less than 15 per cent of our national income for the national safety."

Says Cuts Possible

In answer to a question, Morgenthau expressed the opinion "that it is perfectly possible to cut non-defense items to the extent of $1,000,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1."

The secretary said that the place he would "look first" would be at the agriculture department appropriation bill which includes $500,000,000 for conservation payments. He referred also to the fact that the Senate had increased the fund proposed for parity payments to farmers from $212,000,000 passed by the House to $450,000,000.

Morgenthau suggested also that cuts might be made in appropriations for the Civilian Conservation Corps, now about $300,000,000 and for the National Youth Administration, now about $370,000,000.

"The C. C. C. and the N. Y. A.," Morgenthau asserted, "are taking in boys over 21 as if there weren't a place in the army for boys that age."

Representative Disney (D., Okla.) suggested that a "look" be taken at the federal highway aid appropriation of about $200,000,000, at what he called second class postage "subsidies," and at government publicity departments.

Morgenthau described the new tax program in these points:

"First of all, it presents a method of paying as we go for a reasonable proportion of our expenditures."

"Secondly, it is designed so that all sections of the people shall bear their fair share of the burden."

"Third, it will help to mobilize our resources for defense by reducing the amount of money that the public can spend for comparatively less important things."

"And finally, it is designed to prevent a general rise in prices by keeping the volume of monetary purchasing power from out-running production."

"We simply cannot carry on business as usual and government as usual from now on and still take adequate care of our defense needs," the secretary said.

Would Be Tragic Error

"It would be a tragic error to assume that we can expand our defense production to a colossal scale and still go our usual ways, whether as a government or as individuals. It would be folly to assume that we can continue to spend now (for non-defense needs) of either the government or civilians as we did in normal times."

As far as the government is concerned, Morgenthau said, the nation must take care of the needs in need of relief and other essential costs, but all non-defense expenditures should be "re-examined with a magnifying glass." Explaining the magnitude of the new taxes, Morgenthau estimated that defense spending alone would total $12,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year.

He also estimated that total federal expenditures, including both defense and non-defense items, (Continued on Page 16)

County Attorney Receives Assurance; Will Seek Appraisal Commission in Court May 21

Improvement of the Milton-Marlborough section of state highway 9-W this summer has been assured by the State Highway Department and it is expected that bids for the construction will be advertised for shortly.

Definite assurance that the section of the main Kingston-Newburgh route will be under construction this summer has been given by County Attorney Roscoe V. Elsworth by the highway department.

This morning Mr. Elsworth filed with the county clerk an application, made on behalf of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, for appointment of a condemnation commission to hear claims of property owners whose property will be taken by the new alignment of the road. Commissioners of appraisal will be sought at special term of county court on May 21 when Judge Conway will be asked to name commissioners.

Maps of the taking have been on file for some time and the Board of Supervisors has spent considerable time in attempting to reach satisfactory agreements with property owners for necessary lands. There are 21 parcels to be taken by the new road. In eight cases satisfactory arrangements have been made and agreements reached in 13 takings condemnation proceedings will be resorted to.

Mr. Elsworth said that he had been given definite assurance by the State Highway Department that bids would be solicited without delay for the construction of the road. The contract will be let very shortly after the granting of the application for appointment of commissioners of appraisal and the filing of the oath of office by such commissioners.

The link between Milton and Marlborough is the last remaining narrow two-strip pavement between Kingston and Newburgh and has been the scene of several fatal accidents. Known as the Lloyd Town Line-Milton State Highway No. 5001 and Milton-Marlborough State Highway No. 5114, the proposed plans call for a four-strip roadway running to the west of (Continued on Page 15)

New York Education Board Defeats Move to Force Membership Statements

New York, April 24 (P)—On the heels of resumption of the state legislative probe of subversive activities in the city's public schools, the Board of Education has defeated a move to force teachers to reveal any affiliation with Communist, Nazi or Fascist groups.

Coincident with these developments in the New York school situation, the Board of Higher Education—controlling city colleges—yesterday recommended dismissal of an English teacher for refusing to sign a waiver of immunity before the Rapp-Coudert committee conducting the inquiry. The committee hearings got off to a good start with the appearance of 11 city college teachers or administrative assistants who flatly denied charges they were or had been members of the Communist party.

David Goldway, 12th scheduled witness, interrupted the proceed-

$67,190 in Awards Is Announced in Section 10 Report

Total of 360 Acres Brings Average Award an Acre of $186; Highest Sum $11,190

Awards totaling $67,190 have been made by members of Delaware Section 10 condemnation commission in its second separate report filed yesterday in Sullivan county with the county clerk. The commissioners are Christopher W. Wilson of New York, Adelbert M. Scriber of Sullivan county and John J. McGrath of Ulster county.

The awards, 12 in number, range from $350 to $11,190. A total of 360 acres is included in the area covered by the report and all of the takings but two were complete takings of property.

An interesting fact disclosed by the report is the average amount of the awards per acre was $186. The city's valuation placed in the twelve parcels was $44,225 while the claimants' witnesses testified to a valuation of over $114,000.

List of Awards

Following is the list of awards made:

John L. Sullivan and Marion Sullivan, claimants, represented by Thomas J. Plunkett, were awarded $7,575 for a 30-acre farm with buildings. The commissioners were told that the owner purchased the property in 1931 for $3,000 and spent about $1,500 in improvements. The owner's witness testified to a value of $12,300 while the city's value was placed at $4,050. In addition to the award allowances of $378.75 for counsel fees and $352.93 for expenses and disbursements were made. Henry R. Bright and Theodore R. Lee appeared for the city of New York.

For parcel 1498, Iona Edwards, claimant, appearing by Gross and Orsek, an award of $7,845 was made. Henry R. Bright and Vincent G. Connolly appeared for the city. A farm of 67 acres located one mile from Neversink, the claimant bought the property in 1932 for $3,500 and has since removed the house. On the property, claimant testified, was timber valued at over $5,000. His total value according to his experts was $12,000 while the city's experts placed the value at $5,000. Counsel fees in the sum of $392.25 and expenses amounting to $569 were allowed.

An award of $4,100 was made to Margaret H. Miltner for parcel 1455. William G. Birmingham represented the claimant. Henry R. Bright and John E. Egan appeared for the city of New York. This was a small parcel of less than an acre with two bungalows. The witnesses for claimant placed a value of over $6,000 on the parcel and the city's experts valued it at $3,000. Counsel fees of $205 and expenses and disbursements amounting to $250.80 were allowed.

Amelia B. Hall and Frank G. Hall, claimants, were awarded $7,995 for parcel 1496. This is a partial taking of about 83 acres out of 136 acres and the buildings were located on the portion taken. On the parcel it was claimed was over $2,000 in timber and experts testified that mountain laurel, rhododendron and other shrubbery on the parcel had a value of over $2,000. Experts for claimant placed a value of over $25,000 on the parcel taken while the city's experts placed a value of about $4,700 on the parcel. Henry R. Bright and John E. Egan appeared for the city of New York. An allowance of $599.75 for counsel fees and $472.20 for disbursements and expenses was allowed.

Lawrence Allowed $6,350

Delwin H. and Mary D. Lawrence were allowed $6,350 for parcel 1479. Gross and Orsek appeared for claimant and Henry R. Bright and Vincent G. Connolly for the city. An allowance of $317.50 for counsel fees and $503 for expenses was made. Located in Neversink the property was bought by claimant in 1937 for $2,800 and later improvements were added. A value of $9,500 was placed by the owner's witnesses and the city valued the property at $4,000.

Minnie Christian, represented by Gross and Orsek, was awarded $3,300 for parcel 1515 in Neversink. Henry R. Bright and Vincent G. Connolly appeared for the city (Continued on Page 15)

Battle of Balkans Nears End

Map indicates possible routes of departure from Greece by British forces, as Nazi armies pressed on toward Athens. The British might retreat to the Peloponnese (1) or by sea to Crete, where the Greek King George II established his government (2), or possibly to Alexandria, Egypt, (3) Mediterranean base. Also located are Greek island of Samothrace, believed seized by Nazis, and pass of Thermopylae, through which Germans said they advanced.

Ralph J. Gregory Found Dead Today Of Gas Inhalation

Furniture Company Head Is Said to Have Taken His Life; McCordle Gives Verdict

Ralph J. Gregory, 51, president and treasurer of Gregory & Co., widely known furniture house at 661 Broadway, was found lying dead on the floor of the kitchen in his home, 189 Manor avenue, at noon today by Mrs. John L. MacKinnon, a neighbor, and Charles Withthoff of 89 Wrentham street, a driver of one of the delivery trucks of the Railway Express Agency.

Death, according to Coroner Frank J. McCordle of Rosendale, who made an investigation, was from inhaling illuminating gas from the burners of the gas range in the kitchen.

When found, Mr. Gregory was clothed in his pajamas. He was alone in the house at the time as Mrs. Gregory was in Boston on a visit.

It was shortly before noon that Mr. Withthoff called at the Gregory home to deliver a package. He rang the bell but there was no response, and finding the front door unlocked he opened it and placed the package in the hall.

Then he left to make another delivery returning to the house shortly afterward. He received no response to his ringing the doorbell and opening the door he noticed the odor of gas.

Mr. Withthoff went to the MacKinnon residence next door, and informed Mrs. MacKinnon that no one appeared to be home at the Gregory house, but that there was a strong odor of illuminating gas.

Mrs. MacKinnon accompanied Withthoff back to the Gregory house and entering the house they found the lower floor filled with the odor of gas. Investigating further they entered the kitchen and found Mr. Gregory stretched out on the floor.

Gas burners on the gas range were turned on and the pilot light extinguished, according to Coroner (Continued on Page 15)

British Strengthen Forces at Singapore

Singapore, April 24 (P)—A great transport arrived here today bringing formidable reinforcements of men and machines for the main body of the Australian imperial force which reached this British Far Eastern stronghold on February 18.

Australian-manned bomber planes met the convoy 100 miles at sea and circled overhead as the big liner steamed through Singapore's protective minefield.

The new contingents included transport services and other auxiliaries essential to a fighting force.

Maid Is Beaten, Patrolman Is Shot

Robber Kills Himself in New York Athletic Club Holdup Attempt

New York, April 24 (P)—A chambermaid was badly beaten, a veteran traffic patrolman was shot and a robber killed himself to avoid capture today in an attempted holdup and gun battle sequel at the New York Athletic Club on Central Park.

One companion of the suicide bandit later was captured and a third escaped, at least temporarily, by fleeing on foot after the patrolman was felled with a bullet in the hip.

From police and eye-witnesses to the quick-breaking series of events at 59th street and Seventh avenue, this account was pieced together:

Three bandits invaded the club and, without arousing suspicion, reached the 19th floor, intending, Erickson, well-known bookmaker, who has a room there.

The door was locked and a chambermaid refused to give the men a key. They beat her over the head with their pistol butts and fled.

They came out of the club's service entrance on 58th street (Continued on Page 15)

Billion-and-Half Defense Plant Construction Contracts to Be Sought

Washington, April 24 (P)—A vast new program of defense plant construction and expansion to cost approximately $1,500,000,000 has been drafted by the war department, it was learned today, and is expected to reach the stage of contract negotiations in two weeks.

Almost doubling the $1,750,000,000 of defense plant construction already under contract, the new program is designed to:

1. Increase defense production capacity to the point where it will supply full combat equipment for an army of 2,000,000 men, plus so-called "critical" or basic items for a force twice that size. Previous plans were based on furnishing full equipment for 1,400,000 men, plus "critical" items for 2,000,000.
2. Substantially boost the capacity for turning out munitions needed by the British, particularly long-range bombers. Experts say Britain must have such planes in great numbers if she is eventually

Berlin Sources Declare At Least 160,000 Tons of Shipping Have Been Sunk

Civilians Remain Population of Athens Has Not Left City in Mass Flight

(By The Associated Press) British expeditionary troops were reported still fighting desperately today in the Thermopylae sector, 100 miles north of Athens, in what was apparently a rear-guard action to check Germany's blitzkrieg armies until the main body of the B.E.F. has embarked from southern Greece.

German aviators described scenes of the wildest confusion as Nazi Stuka dive-bombers rained death and destruction on troop-jammed British transports.

Berlin sources asserted that at least 160,000 tons of ships had already been sunk, and an official Greek communication acknowledged that assaults by waves of screaming Stukas had inflicted "considerable damage to ships and other installations."

While the fall of Athens and the end of the 15-day-old battle of the Balkans appeared imminent, authoritative quarters in London insisted that B.E.F. troops were clinging stubbornly to defense positions in the Thermopylae zone.

It was in this historic sector, the scene of bloody strife 2,400 years ago, that the Germans claimed yesterday their Panzer columns had smashed the British rear guard and plunged on toward Athens.

A British spokesman declared that reports the British flank had been turned were without basis. He said it was "very doubtful" too, that the Germans had seized the island of Lemnos, near the Turkish-controlled Dardanelles.

Few Details Given

Hitler's high command gave few details of the climactic struggle and made no claim to a major drive through the allies' "last ditch" defenses.

"In a fight with British rearguards, we succeeded in breaking into Thermopylae positions, which were situated in especially favorable terrain," the German communiqué said.

"Between Larisa and Lamia, 30 British tanks were captured."

A Nazi spokesman yesterday had asserted that the Germans "annihilated" the British rearguard.

British middle east headquarters in Cairo reported tersely that B.E.F. troops "yesterday were in contact with the enemy but no important engagements took place."

Dispatches from Athens said that, despite the tidings from the battlefield, there was no indication of a mass exodus from the Hellenic capital, already abandoned by King George II and his government, who fled yesterday to the Isle of Crete.

Greece's high command, explaining the collapse of the Greek armies in the northwest after they had been cut off by German Panzer columns, summed up that debacle in seven words:

"These forces did not possess anti-tank guns."

Premier Mussolini's high command listed 6,000 Italian troops killed or wounded, including 400 officers, in the final offensive against the Greeks on the Albanian front.

Hostilities Cease at 6 p. m.

Hostilities ceased at 6 o'clock last night (11 a. m. E. S. T. yesterday), under the terms of an armistice signed at the Salonika headquarters of the German Field Marshal Siegmund List, commander of the Nazi southeast armies.

Stefani, the official Italian news agency, asserted that 12 Duce's legions had driven as far as 90 miles in northern Greece before the Greeks surrendered.

By contract, the Greek high command declared that, until the hour of the armistice, the Greeks kept the Italians off Hellenic soil, and even the German radio broadcast an official Greek communiqué declaring:

"It is confirmed that at the moment of capitulation, Italian forces had not succeeded in advancing onto Greek territory, but that they were held back on Albanian territory by our troops."

Even though reports in London said the pace of the motorized Nazi drive had slackened, Britain waited impatiently and in an increasingly critical mood for word of the Grecian finale and was prepared to hear the worst.

Already lost were all of northern Greece and Greece's northwestern army of about 250,000 men which had accepted unconditional surrender to the German Field Marshal List.

Kingston Y.W.C.A. Joins in Effort To Aid Britain

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. is co-operating with the British Y. W. C. A. in sending clubs-on-wheels to the girls working in anti-aircraft units at lonely outposts on the English coast. The first of these vans have recently been put into service.

These new and mobile clubs, manned by a recreation leader and a driver, bring to the Ack-Ack girls a replenishment of their supplies of knitting wools, candies, cigarettes and books, as well as an evening of entertainment. Phonograph records and a movie projector are stored in these constructed "clubs."

One of the clubs-on-wheels has been donated to the Y. W. C. A. by the National Council of Women of England and a second by the Girls' Life Brigade.

Funds for others are expected to be raised in this country through the sale of Blue Triangle pins, which have recently appeared at the local association headquarters and in department stores throughout the country. These are sold for the "Y" war emergency fund, which is distributed between British and China projects.

The pin, which combined the association's insignia of three blue triangles and a white bowknot, was designed by Miss Margaret Bayne, a volunteer worker at the national offices, who has spent much time in England.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, April 24—The worst brush fire of the season broke out Tuesday in Lewis Hollow. It was checked before it reached the immediate vicinity of several dwellings. One property however, was directly in the path of the flames, and a fire came within ten feet of the house. All of the available fire fighting equipment answered local alarms. For a time the local equipment was somewhat short since one of the engines had gone to Shokan to fight another forest fire in that locality. State equipment also arrived from the Poughkeepsie State Forestry Conservation.

Work of constructing the new quarters for the Craftsmen's Guild which will be located over the Wilbur Market, began Tuesday. When completed the new quarters will provide a desirable home for the guild, and make practical several possibilities which have been out of the question up to now. The work will be pushed rapidly and the building made ready for occupancy in the near future. The work is being done by Arthur Wolven.

Ralph Elghem, principal of the Woodstock public school, resigned his position Monday. He will retire at least for the present, to his farm in Willow. The position of principal of the school will be taken by Dayton Benjamin of New Paltz, who assumed his duties immediately upon the retirement of Mr. Elghem.

County highway workmen are repairing the road in front of the Mundy residence. Mr. and Mrs. Krowell of New York city are visiting Mrs. Krowell's mother, Mrs. Steyette in the MacDonald house, for a short time.

VALUABLE MATURITY

Employers determined to make this a young man's world should think at least twice before cutting themselves off from the skills, experience and loyalty of "older" workers of 40 years or more. A list of men whose greatest achievements came after that age is impressive. Here are a few called to mind by a thoughtful newspaper writer.

Galileo worked out the application of the pendulum to clocks when he was 73 years old and blind. Pasteur was 58 when he began the study of hydrophobia and 63 when he initiated the practice of inoculation for the disease. Roentgen discovered the X-rays when he was 50. Morse exhibited his first telegraph to a few friends at 46 and sent a message over a wire when he was 53. Faraday did most of his work between 40 and 60. Edison was still conducting experiments and perfecting inventions in his 80's. Darwin published his "Origin of Species" at 50. Benjamin Franklin was a useful ambassador to France at 71 and a valued member of the Constitutional Convention at 81.

In science, in letters, in music, in religion, in statesmanship, in war, men of mature years have been of inestimable service to civilization. Why not in industry and business today?

PRIVATE SLUM CLEARANCE

More people lose their investment in Irish sweepstakes than win, and of the few who win, more spend their money foolishly than otherwise. That is why the story of Pearl and Benjamin Mason of Philadelphia is so striking.

The Masons, a negro family, had been on relief for some years, getting $11.50 a week. Wrongly, perhaps, they spent $2.50 of that public money on the sweepstakes. And they won $150,000.

The Masons paid back the $3,000 they had received as relief. They moved themselves from a tumbledown shack into a new $3,000 home. They bought a car in the moderate price class. They did more.

There is today in Philadelphia a big slum clearance development, the first project of the kind privately financed, the Frances Plaza Apartments for negroes. The suites are modern in every respect, equipped with air conditioning, playground, lawns and a fountain, playrooms for children, a gymnasium and bowling alley, a reception hall for social affairs and a chapel for religious services.

Rents are $30 a month for three-room suites and $39 for five. The Masons put nearly $100,000 of their own money into the building. For the rest, they had loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and a bank. The chairman of the Philadelphia Housing Authority says it is a good business proposition, in addition to being a fine social project. There's food for thought in that statement.

PROSPEROUS LABOR

American labor today is lucky in comparison with former years. This is very clear when you take steel as an example.

With the recent wage gain of 10 cents an hour in the steel industry, an expert points out, the average hourly pay, which was 65.4 cents in 1929, is now 97 cents. Here is a gain of nearly 50 per cent.

When you consider the cost of living, which is considerably lower now than it was in 1929, the steel worker seems to be nearly two-thirds better off than he was a dozen years ago. That is, if he works for the same number of hours. In general, the working time is shorter now. But even so, the average worker is more prosperous as well as more leisurely. The situation is much the same in many other industries.

OPERA WITHOUT PREJUDICE

A German opera, an American orchestra conductor, a magnificent cast including a Norwegian prima donna and Danish and Swedish principals plus singers of many nationalities, make a truly international enterprise. It is also truly American. Presented in a time of world distress, fears and hatreds, such a production in middle-western America is something more than a delight to music-lovers.

It is proof of the supremacy of great art over petty nationalism. It is proof of America's enjoyment and support of such art. It is one more example of all that America should be thankful for and all that Americans are determined to preserve.

WAR CYCLE

In April, twenty-five years ago, hard-pressed Britain was trying to tighten her blockade on Germany—

The Germans were making air raids on Salonika—

Washington was protesting about Germany breaking her pledges on submarine warfare.

Various other parallels could be mentioned.

Maybe Solomon was right when he wrote: "What hath been shall be, and there is nothing new under the sun." We seem to have war cycles like weather cycles. Is this inevitable, or has man power over his own destiny?

AN EXPERT ON DESTRUCTION

Americans are getting fed up with the Roman journalist, Virginio Gayda, who spends much of his time lately in telling us where to get off and what not to do.

England, he broadcasts, is going down to "more than certain defeat." And if we insist, against his advice, in helping Britain, our action will be taken as "guilty evidence" of a policy destined to carry us to destruction. Our cooperation with Britain is an "elephantine interventionist machine" that is sure to go bust.

Well, Virginio should be an expert in defeats and busts. He and his gang, journalistic and ideological and military, have certainly brought enough of them upon poor old Italy. Uncle Sam doesn't take any advice from that quarter.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is still "wooing Russia" but there's no faith in the Bear.

The price of steel is "frozen" by the government; and now if they don't freeze taxes!

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
VITAMINS MUST BE EATEN EVERY DAY

During the last war (1914-1918) vitamins were in their infancy and little was known of their action. I asked the chemist in charge of our hospital laboratory what was the simplest way to explain the action of vitamins. His reply was:

"Here is a good food that in the laboratory gives so many calories of food value and so many minerals for building purposes. However, when it is taken into the body and meets the various substances there, it does not give up its full value of calories and minerals to the body. Perhaps only 60 per cent in all is obtainable. Another food eaten acts in a similar way, giving only 40 or 50 per cent if taken alone. But if taken with the other food they both give up more of their food and mineral value to the body. The vitamins act like a whip or stimulant in causing these two foods to do better work. Thus a mixture of the various foods, each containing one, two, three or even four of these vitamins would mean that all the foods were giving more nourishment to the body. Therefore, an all-round diet is necessary for a 'complete' diet."

It is because a diet is short of, or deficient in, certain vitamins that various symptoms arise and the diet is not suspected of being the cause. For example, a couple of raw carrots daily, because they are rich in vitamin A, can prevent night blindness. And daily helping of beef liver or bacon (vitamin B1) may restore a lost appetite.

Fortunately the daily diet of most individuals contains all the vitamins and in sufficient quantities for health. Unfortunately, some of us do not eat "enough" of certain foods to make sure of all the vitamins. There are two vitamins, vitamin D and vitamin B1 that are deficient in many diets.

Vitamin D is found only in a few foodstuffs—butter, yolk of egg, and liver. As it is found in large quantities in cod liver oil, it can be seen why so much cod liver oil is prescribed by physicians during cold and cloudy weather when there is least sunshine.

Vitamin B1 is the other vitamin not eaten in sufficient quantity by many of us. Unfortunately the body does not store this vitamin; it must be eaten daily. Foods rich in vitamin B1 are: ham, bacon, beef liver, peanuts, malted milk, whole wheat bread, asparagus, carrots, prunes and spinach. It is important, then, to make sure of eating foods containing these two vitamins—D and B1—every day.

The fifth annual Camporee of the Ulster County Council will be held on June 6, 7, and 8 at Forsyth Park in Kingston. Following lunch the troops will form and march to the Stadium where the following field events will be held: sack race, signalling contest, centipede race, knot tying race, string burning contest, wall scaling, chariot race and an obstacle race. At the Honor Campfire in the evening the "ribbon awards" for the field day events and the first aid contest will be made.

The other events in the campfire will be singing and pick demonstration and stunts put on by the boys. The Scouts of the Council wish to invite their friends and parents to save these dates and plan to visit this encampment and stay for any of the events.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington.—In spite of what you may conclude from reading, the war isn't all there is to Washington.

A few years ago, research scientists discovered a Chinese drug called ephedrin and opened a new door to medical treatment. A few weeks ago, a Department of Agriculture botanist, identified and classified (that's practically discovery) a new Chinese drug plant. It may not be worth a pill to modern medicine, but the fact that it has been used for centuries as a cure for colds, sore throat, and minor stomach and intestinal ailments by the Chinese is an indication that it might equal or top ephedrin. And the fact that there is an exciting story behind its discovery over in the "ag department" makes it plenty worth repeating, no matter what it amounts to.

In agriculture, there are scores of scientists who spend days and nights with unknown insects and plants and eventually give them names and classes, trace out their life histories and their usefulness or danger to mankind. There are hundreds of discoveries each year.

Traced to its Source

One of the scientists is Dr. Walter T. Swingle, botanist, who, to put it simply, sure knows a heap about Chinese flora. Thus, it was to Dr. Swingle that all the reports and specimens of lo-han fruit-like drug which was so highly rated by the Chinese that it was as common in some communities as aspirin in the United States. In recent years, thousands of dollars worth of it has been imported to Chinese residents in this country, yet no one knew what it was or where it came from.

Starting in Canton, which seemed to be one of the principal distribution centers for the drug, the expedition found it wrapped in papers that showed fruit growing from a tree. Working tediously into the mountainous regions of Kwangsi province by means of "mid-men" (hand-carried porters) the expedition finally discovered the Miao, a primitive, aboriginal people who had been "lost" for 150 years after being driven out of central China. Their rocky, mountain-side land is apparently the only place in the world where lo-han is cultivated.

The expedition found not a tree at all, but a vine—grown on crude arbors. To the amazement of the expedition, these primitive people were using an extremely modern method of plant propagation. They were cultivating only the female plants, fertilizing them by hand pollination from male vines growing only in the wild state.

Size of Hen Egg
The fruit, from which the drug is taken, was found to be about the size of a big hen egg. Dried, it has a brittle shell. Inside are a few sweet, fibrous meat and watermelon seeds.

Samples, photographs and reports finally came to Dr. Swingle and out of his laboratory another day went the announcement that lo-han is a formerly unknown species of momordica.

You and I don't know what momordica is—but the botanists do. It may be only a season or two until it becomes as well known to medicine as ephedrin, calomel or aspirin. It certainly will if there's anything to the claims its Chinese testimonials have been making these last 200 years.

If there's anything to it, we'll probably use it in vitamin capsules. The Chinese brew it into a sickeningly sweet soup.

That's how new medicines are born.

Criticism of F. D. R.'s Leadership in Foreign Crisis Is Based Mostly on Surface Happenings

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 24.—President Roosevelt's leadership in the international crisis is being questioned. One hears it among his own New Deal supporters and one hears it among his opponents. And yet the criticism is based on only surface developments. There is no knowledge of what the President may be planning or what timing he may be thinking of in connection with the events of the next few days. There is an obvious impatience over his indecisiveness on the major issues of speeding up production and entry into the war.

That the British expedition in Greece would fail was known to military experts here and in Britain, but in the face of this the British government felt it necessary to aid Greece and Yugoslavia. Undoubtedly President Roosevelt knew the risks involved. He told his press conference Tuesday that the public must not allow itself to be raised to heights of undue optimism over the winning of a British naval battle in one part of the Mediterranean or to drop to the depths of undue pessimism because of what now is happening in another part of the same area.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt has realized that the news will be unfavorable for a little while now and prefers to wait till a more propitious moment before announcing his next move is a matter of conjecture. It could well be that the President wants to see public opinion crystallized before the consequence of a serious British reverse and then determine American policy.

But even granting this premise, it does not explain the wavering and the dilatory procedures, the failure to delegate authority and the tolerance of experimentation and excessive spending in non-defense fields or the gentle policy with one group of labor leaders and the tendency to "crack down" on employers if they don't yield to wage demands.

There is certainly an overall situation which while not yet unmanageable, is becoming so. The same unmanageable situation which the British empire to become critical, as in Australia and even in Britain, when things go wrong is manifesting itself here. Partisan politics has nothing to do with it. Those who are aware of the importance of preserving the British democracy are not thinking about partisanship at all but of effective defense. And just now many officials are beginning to feel that the most effective defense for the United States is an active offense. It is surprising how many people in officialdom seriously believe America had better enter the war now lest the label "too late" be affixed to American policy as it has been to that of the neutral states of Europe which hesitated and then were picked off one at a time. There is comment often, too, as to what the whole course of events might have been if all the Balkan states had acted together against the Nazis when the war broke out or if the next move is to decide whether the United States should convoy her own merchant shipping to the Red Sea and to the African coast, or to the ports of the British in the Balkans for a counter move for more action to be taken. And that just now centers in the authority and judgment of the President of the United States. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

With the local Y.M.C.A. staging its annual budget drive this month it is interesting to recall one of the most successful "Y" campaigns ever held in this section of the state. I am referring to the famous ten days drive to raise $75,000 staged by the local "Y" in November of 1911.

The drive had been planned to raise funds to tear down the old hotel property on Broadway and replace it with the present building which was erected in 1912.

George D. Beckwith was secretary of the "Y" in 1911. He was president of the board of directors. Some of the most prominent men of the city were members of the board that year.

At the opening dinner meeting of the campaign it was announced that the late S. D. Coykendall, for years Kingston's leading citizen, had given an initial gift of $10,000, while Frank R. Fowley and several other well known men had given a thousand each to the campaign.

A. D. Pardee was general chairman of the drive, and it was planned to start and finish it within ten days. I recall that the state association sent a man here named Greeley, as I recall it, to aid in the drive. He was a tall lanky man, and a go-getter. He was the man who called for the daily reports and chalked them down on a huge blackboard that took up one end of the big gym in which the daily luncheons were served to the workers in the drive.

In front of the "Y" was erected a huge clock and each day the big hands kept showing closer and closer to the $75,000 mark, and the drive closed with the big hand pointing beyond the $75,000 mark, showing that more than the sum needed had been raised.

Probably I remember that drive of 30 years ago so vividly for it was a cub reporter on The Freeman. He was a tall lanky man, and a go-getter. He was the man who called for the daily reports and chalked them down on a huge blackboard that took up one end of the big gym in which the daily luncheons were served to the workers in the drive.

There were ten divisions of workers and the captains as I recall them were Ward B. Everett, W. F. Brodbeck, Albert Mutterstock, Charles R. O'Connor, Harry P. Dodge, William S. Eltinge, Frank C. Thompson, E. F. MacFadden, L. J. McIntyre and Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

The citizens' committee was also divided into ten groups and the leaders were William C. Shafer, Ernest A. Kelly, A. E. Dedrick, J. D. Hasbrouck, A. R. Pardee, J. E. Elmhay, William F. Hoehn, John B. Alliger, F. S. Benedict and A. N. Barnes.

The Man Who Stayed in Texas
By Anne Nathan and Harry L. Cohen

It seems to me that "The Man Who Stayed in Texas" is a particularly useful book right now. It tells the story of an instance in which perfect understanding has been established between Jew and Gentile; of an American city where a man and his service to his community have been judged, wholly upon their worth. The man is Rabbi Henry Cohen and the city is Galveston, Tex.

Henry Cohen is an English Jew. He began social work as a boy, and had a knack for making himself useful and liked. People really liked being helped by him. He had humor, cleverness, endurance, and knew the spirit of adventure, because it was born in him.

The boy went to South Africa and almost got himself killed by a native. He returned to London, completed his studies, and went out to Jamaica as spiritual leader of a divided flock. He found it difficult to reconcile the Spanish and the Askenazim, or eastern European elements, and went to New York with the idea of going on to London. But he had a "call" to Woodville, Miss., and he went there on impulse. He stayed ten years, because he loved the town and the town loved him. Then he went on to Galveston.

Rabbi Cohen is 77 years old now, and he has been 52 years in Galveston. He has managed things as diverse as the Galveston flood relief and Jacob Schiff's great immigration center which brought over the oppressed and distributed them where they were needed instead of to New York's East Side. He has got boys out of jail, helped reform the Texas prison, taken cookies to sick old ladies, married Jew, Gentile and non-believer alike, palled with priests and preachers. He has poured out hundreds of thousands of money given him for the help of men but never has taken fees for marriages and funerals. He has been in short, a great man and not a great Jew, and the story as told by his son and daughter-in-law, Harry L. Cohen and Anne Cohen, is a deserved tribute.

4-H CLUB NEWS

To Raise Pheasants
The New York State Department of Conservation is working with 4-H Club boys and girls living in the New Paltz Game Preserve again this year. Pheasants will be raised by these members to stock this preserve.

Al Bromley of Newburgh is aiding the local leader, Frederic Heinsolhn, agricultural teacher of the New Paltz school, in teaching construction of hatching nests and brooding the pheasant chick. Each 4-H member is limited to three settings of eggs. At the end of eight weeks, Mr. Bromley will inspect the young birds and then release them in the area.

At a meeting last night of the boys and girls at New Paltz, 21 settings of eggs were requested. The eggs will arrive early next month, about five weeks earlier than last year, which will assure large pheasants by hunting season time.

Legions of 4-H'ers To Beautify Rural America This Year

Beautifying rural home and public grounds on a nationwide scale never before attained in 4-H Club history is under way by thousands of boys and girls. Clubsters between 10 and 21 in this and 39 other states are participating under supervision of the extension service. Communities all over the nation are being awakened to the beauty within their means in this year-around contest made possible by Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, garden enthusiast of Illinois.

"All that farm boys and girls need to make their surroundings inviting is to be shown how," states Mrs. Walgreen. "Tools and materials are at hand on or near every farm. Labor and a plan only are needed, and the latter is provided through club leaders."

In proof of her statements she calls attention to the records submitted by clubsters last year: A Georgia girl transformed an old log house in a barren field into an attractive place in three years. In his first year of home ground beautification, a New Hampshire lad leveled an old driveway, filled the yard, pruned shrubs and planted annuals and perennials. A 14-year-old Mississippi girl built walks, a lily pool, driveway and rock garden; planted a hedge, rose garden and shade trees, and grew pot plants for the porch. A Utah clubster planted sumacs along the driveway, and shrubs and flowers around the back lawn to screen it for an outdoor rest place. A youthful Wisconsin miss planted 4,048 annuals and perennials, 271 trees and 1,200 bulbs according to plan.

Gold medals will be awarded to county winners. One representative of each state blue award group will receive a gold watch, and all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November will be given to the outstanding winners in each of the four extension sections and two at large.

Prevent Molds in Germination Tests

Geneva, N. Y., April 24—Treatment of the seed with protective chemicals to prevent the growth of molds and fungi in germination tests is recommended by analysts in the seed testing laboratory here as the only way to insure satisfactory results in the home testing of seeds. Where the tests are made in the soil, the seedlings frequently "damp-off," while tests on paper or cloth towels rolled into "dolls" are often overgrown with molds which prevent an accurate evaluation of the germination percentage.

Where the tests is to be made in soil, treating the seed with cuprous oxide or with "Semesan" will make possible a satisfactory germination tests with most seeds, say the Station workers. Cuprous oxide, however, may injure seed placed in paper or cloth rolls. For these latter tests, much evidence is available to show that "Barbak C," a mixture of mercuric chloride and talc; "Mersol," mercurous chloride, better known as calomel;

a mixture of 1 part "New Improved Ceresan" to 4 parts talc; "New Improved Semesan, Jr.," "Semesan"; or a mixture of 1 part "Spergon" to 2 parts talc will control all superficial mold growth.

Chemical Dips Effective
All of these materials are dusts and are applied by shaking the seeds and a small amount of the dust together in a closed jar. The excess dust should then be removed by shaking the treated seeds in a small tea strainer or coarse cloth.

A more rapid and convenient method of treatment that is gaining in popularity in seed houses where speed, safety, and efficiency are essential consists of dipping the seeds in an aqueous solution of mercuric chloride or of "New Improved Ceresan". The solutions contain 1 level teaspoonful of the powdered mercuric chloride in 6 quarts of water or 1 level teaspoonful of New Improved Ceresan in 3 quarts of water. The seeds are simply immersed in the solution, immediately recovered by pouring off the solution, and are then placed on the germinating medium.

Membership Grows
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Rotary Club on Tuesday evening, it was voted to contribute $25 for one of the cash awards to high school bands in the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival on May 10. This makes a total of nearly $400 received to date and also over $100 in definite promises. Additional contributions in the form of memberships are being received every day. The goal of 200 council memberships is likely to be reached in the near future.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, April 23 — At a meeting of the board of governors of the Woodstock Country Club, held at the clubhouse Saturday last, George Schwarzwaelder was appointed treasurer of the club, to succeed W. F. Terwilliger. Mr. Schwarzwaelder was formerly superintendent of the Schwarzwaelder mills in Chichester, and now lives in Wittenberg. He assumed his new duties Monday, April 21. The golf course is now open and Prof. Warren Tommley says it is in excellent condition. Chief head steward, Joseph Cardarola, is expected to arrive here about Wednesday of this week. On Saturday, April 26, a meeting of the stockholders of the Woodstock Properties, Inc., will be held, to vote on the proposition of purchasing from Carl Eric Lindin the buildings now occupied by the club, and which up to this time, have been rented. Decisive action will be taken on the matter of purchase on that date. George A. Neher is president of the Holdings Co.

Woodstock firemen were called to the forest fire in Centerville Monday afternoon. The Catskill Glee Club, consisting of 50 voices, presented a splendid program at the Town Hall Monday evening under the auspices of the local Epworth League, and there was a large attendance.

Nearly 400 child evacuees, most of them under six years old, passed through India recently on their way from England to Australia.

Good Appearance Helps Personality

Women Urged to Be Well Groomed and Clothed

Ithaca, N. Y. April 24—"Any woman can be good-looking," says Mrs. Gladys Butt of the New York state college of home economics.

Mrs. Butt adds that good grooming, in itself, is not the final value to be achieved, but should take its proper place as a preparation for meeting others.

"Be well groomed and clothed," she urges, "then forget how you look and devote yourself to other things such as interest in your work, your home, your family and your friends. An attractive appearance and interesting personality, and good grooming gives poise."

Showing, on three persons the use of cosmetics, the choice of dress colors and styles, and hair-dressing, Mrs. Butt can bring out the effects of various colors on the individual. She used a blonde person to illustrate how delicate coloring can be made an asset by substituting soft pastel shades for neutral, drab browns, and by using make-up which harmonizes with the model's natural coloring.

Changes Skin Appearance

On a mousey brunette, Mrs. Butt points out the change in skin appearance brought about by a soft blue-green suit, which clarifies the skin coloring, instead of, for example, an orange color. For an older woman with gray hair, she suggests a simple facial mask. She says that increasingly careful treatment is necessary for older women whose skins generally become dry. With this model she shows that an older woman need not do her hair in an old-fashioned style, and that the conservative use of make-up enhances the attractiveness of the hair.

"Of primary importance, however, is what goes into, or under, the skin," Mrs. Butt maintains, "and essential for a healthy skin are proper food, plenty of water, enough sleep, exercise, proper elimination, fresh air and sunshine."

The Crowning Glory

Any woman who has well-groomed, smartly, and becomingly arranged hair will not go unnoticed, she insists. The hair should be arranged according to a person's features, neck and hairline, and should be in keeping with one's age, occupation and costume.

Brushing, which has been neglected by many women since short hair has been in style, is important since it stimulates circulation, distributes oil, and adds lustre to the hair.

In washing, "hair should be treated like any other fine fabric. A shampoo made from a quarter of a cake of castile, olive oil, or other mild toilet soap dissolved in a quart of water is as good as any. Oil applied to the scalp and hair before shampooing is a good treatment for brittle hair and dry scalp. Oiling and brushing is advisable before getting a permanent, and should be continued after the wave.

With proper care and skillful use of cosmetics, anyone who does not violate fundamental health rules can achieve an attractive complexion, believes Mrs. Butt. Absolute cleanliness, not only of the skin, but also of the hair, is necessary for a good complexion. Mrs. Butt says that individual skins vary, and that all may not respond favorably to the same treatment, but all will be benefited by daily cleansing and massage. She recommends washing with a mild soap and warm water, followed by patting the face with quantities of cold water, and urges that women be patient enough to search for the soap that suits their skin, then use it once a day, or oftener if their skins are oily.

Robberies on busses in Shanghai, China, have become so frequent that it has been suggested that equipment be installed so that passengers could push a button and release a sign outside reading "Thieves Inside" for police to see.

Resolution Is Adopted

New York, April 23 (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association today adopted a resolution endorsing the creation of a national shrine to the Bill of Rights on the village green of historic St. Paul's Church at East Chester, N. Y., and commended the project "as worthy of the moral and financial support of its membership." It was there that John Peter Zenger, in 1733, defied the authority of the Colonial government by daring to print forbidden news and was sustained by the royal court. The resolution stated that "the freedom of speech, the freedom of the press, the right of equal suffrage, and the equal administration of justice were all established on the American continent" as a result of incidents on the village green which Zenger reported.

Fastest Service to Begin

Boston, April 23 (AP)—The fastest rail service between Boston and Washington in the history of railroading will be inaugurated April 27, the New Haven Railroad announced today, with the operation of an eight-hour express. Almost three hours will be cut from the overnight running time of the "Federal," which, under the new schedule, will leave at midnight (eastern daylight saving time) and reach Washington at 8 a. m. (E.D.T.). The railroad's announcement said several new trains would be placed in operation between Boston, southern New England points, New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

Britain, Australia Raise Cry for Accounting in Balkans

Lindbergh Tells Rally Britain Seeks Another A.E.F. to Turn War Tide

Britons Would Have U.S. Share Militarily as Well as Financially in War's Fiasco

New York, April 24 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh says Great Britain seeks another A.E.F. to turn the tide of a "losing" battle. "It is now obvious that England is losing the war," he said at an America first committee rally last night, "but they have one last desperate plan remaining."

"They hope that they may be able to persuade us to send another American Expeditionary Force to Europe and to share with England militarily, as well as financially, the fiasco of this war."

Lindbergh reiterated parts of an address made in Chicago last week in which he said U. S. aid could not win the war for England.

A crowd thronged the streets outside Manhattan Center as Lindbergh made his anti-war plea, and for a brief time there was disorder as police, pickets and bystanders clashed.

Man Is Sentenced

One man was arrested and later sentenced to one day in jail for seizing the bride of a mounted policeman's horse during a kicking and slugging melee as pickets with anti-Lindbergh placards were dispersed.

Lindbergh declared he did not blame England for its hope of an A.E.F.

"But we now know," he added, "that she declared a war under circumstances which led to the defeat of every nation that sided with her, from Poland to Greece."

On the subject of any United States entry into the war, he said this country "is not prepared to wage war in Europe successfully at this time."

"I have attempted to do this, especially from the standpoint of aviation, and I have been forced to the conclusion that we cannot win this war for England, regardless of how much assistance we extend."

He placed the blame for "the downfall of the democracies of Europe" on "the shoulders of the interventionists who led their nations into war unprepared and untrained."

Lindbergh's non-interventionist views were backed at the meeting by Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) and Novelist Kathleen Norris.

Cancer in Ulster Causes 165 Deaths During Last Year

Death Rate From Disease in County Is Seventh Highest in Whole Upstate Region

In Ulster county alone during 1940 a total of 165 persons died of cancer according to a statement issued today by Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, district state health officer.

It was also pointed out that more than three times as many people died of cancer in the United States in the year 1940 than in 1900 and year by year this disease claims more victims.

Ulster county's record of a total 1,188 deaths during 1940 shows a comparison of cancer deaths that one death in every seven was caused by cancer. In other words, according to the health authorities, if 1940 conditions continue to prevail, one person in every seven now living will die of the malady.

It is noted also that of the 56 counties upstate, Ulster county experienced the seventh highest cancer death rate in the state. The reason for this is believed due to the fact that Ulster is one of the older counties in the state and the proportion of people in the cancer age is higher in this section than in many other parts of the state.

Proclamation

By a proclamation of Governor Lehman, April has been designated as Cancer Education Month. The importance of cancer as a cause of death well merits the giving over of a month to the consideration of this dangerous disease and the means whereby it best may be combated.

Since the beginning of 1940, by virtue of a law enacted by the 1939 legislature, cancer has been a reportable disease. This law should prove of great benefit in efforts to control cancer as it will make available figures as to the prevalence of the disease and the conditions under which it occurs and will also make it possible to accumulate a great body of scientific information since most of the reports are accompanied by data from pathological laboratories reporting on the nature of the tissue as studied under the microscope.

No other state in the country has such a law at the present time. In Ulster county, during 1940, 322 cases of cancer were reported by physicians. One hundred and twenty-seven of these were from Kingston, nine from Ellenville, 19 from Saugerties and 167 from the rural parts of the county.

People Are Negligent

One of the outstanding pieces of information portrayed by these reports is the sad fact that persons are not consulting their physicians sufficiently early after the onset of symptoms. Cancer at present may be treated by means of surgery, X-ray, and radium, but the important factor is time. Even a week may mean the difference between life and death and until the day comes when people realize the urgent necessity of observing the warning signs of cancer and consulting their physicians with the greatest of promptitude, deaths from cancer will continue to mount.

Ulster county physicians with the aid of the hospitals and laboratory are now well armed to diagnose all types of cancer, to treat many or to refer cases to areas in which more elaborate apparatus for treatment is available. But it must always be remembered that the physician can do little if the patient delays until the cancer has become advanced.

Danger Signs

It is well at this time once again to repeat the danger signs of cancer. These are: a sore which fails to heal; a persistent lump in the breast; a chronic cough; a persistent hoarseness; indigestion appearing in or after middle life; a change in bowel habit; abnormal bleeding from any of the body openings; a wart or mole which changes in size or color. Any or all of these symptoms may mean nothing; on the other hand, any of them may indicate an early cancer. Only your physician can decide.

The value of routine physical examinations should be stressed. Many early cancers can be found by a thorough examination considerably before they cause any symptoms. For this reason, it is best to consult the family physician at least once a year for a checkup. At any time between in which any of the danger signs appear, one should go to his office immediately. Only in this way, can we hope to stem the rising tide of cancer deaths.

Hudson's Waters Are Running Silver With Spawning Shad

Freeman Photos

Restaurateurs and gourmets of Gotham for whom the most tasty dishes are their greatest pleasures have known for generations that spring has arrived when markets in Manhattan teem with the Hudson's most precious yield, the silver shad. They, like the valley housewife, know that the fish is at its sweetest when the run has reached the cold river waters. And for the man who spurns the meat itself in favor of the roe, truly an American caviar, that special dish is at its best in development by the time the schools have reached the fresh waters of cove and channel. This year the shad run is heavy, more so than in many years, and the take is about 100 fish per drift. These views taken at Kingston Point, show: Upper left, fishermen spread and untangle their nets for drying as two customers pick their fish. Top right, the haul is brought from the boat to the drying rack near the small truck. On the left John Naccarato removes fish from the net as Anthony Alecca removes the snags.

As Dr. Brekhuis Sees It, Human Tooth Destruction Is Most Prevalent Disease

By J. B. MACKAY

Minneapolis, April 24 (The Freeman's special news service)—Prospects look pretty gloomy for man's teeth . . .

They do, at least if one follows the reasoning of Dr. P. J. Brekhuis, University of Minnesota professor and winner a year ago of a prize presented by the American College of Surgeons.

Decreased functioning is mainly responsible for dental deterioration in civilized man, contends Dr. Brekhuis, who is professor of oral diagnosis in the school of dentistry.

In his new book, "Your Teeth, Their Past, Present and Probable Future," the professor emphasizes that he does not mean you probably have lost your second molar and have a hole in some other tooth.

"It means," stressed Dr. Brekhuis, "that in all likelihood, down the years to come, human teeth are going to become even poorer than they are today—possibly fewer, too!"

The most prevalent disease in the world today is destruction of human teeth, said Dr. Brekhuis, adding "it's worse than any other known destruction of human tissues."

Not Matter of Cleanliness

This is not merely a matter of cleanliness and diet," he explained. "If we contend that man gets too few minerals in his food, too little calcium—then how does it happen that the rest of his body is so well nourished? Why do his other bones not suffer from calcium deficiency? The fact is that they don't, and that this matter of calcium deficiency is far over-rated."

Neither is it just a matter of eating soft foods instead of raw or unprepared foods, although this is important, the dental expert said. He holds with Darwin, who first pointed out that "an animal's teeth are not merely to eat with, but also to fight with."

"Long before he began restricting himself to cooked and specially prepared foods, man had stopped fighting with his teeth, and dental deterioration had set in. In the animal kingdom teeth are differentiated according to the needs of the professor, and animals have almost no tooth trouble."

"On the other hand, there are well established instances among non-humans where animals that changed their food habits lost their teeth. One example of this is the ant-eater; another, the duck-

N.Y.A. Approves Plans

For Six Rural Schools

Approval of plans for the construction of farm shops for six schools in rural areas of New York state under a cooperative program worked out by school authorities and the National Youth Administration was announced today by State N. Y. A. Administrator Karl D. Hesley.

The communities for which this school farm shop building program has been approved are Brookfield, Treadwell, Munsville, Mount Upton, West Leyden and Cobleskill. Four other communities, Van Hornesville, Truxton, Breesport, and Genoa, are also considering the possibility of enlarging their school facilities under this arrangement.

Out-of-school, unemployed youth eligible for N. Y. A. assignment will carry out the construction work under the direction of skilled workmen. N. Y. A. will pay for the cost of labor and supervision, and one-half the cost of materials, up to a maximum of $2,000.00.

Little Bruin Meets

Tragic Fate at Zoo

Bear Mountain, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—For two weeks Bear Mountain Zoo authorities tried to take two cubs from Goldie, 750-pound black bear.

Ruse after ruse failed as Goldie always succeeded in shooting her young into the den at the approach of keepers.

Today one of Goldie's little bruns was gone forever—victim of the very raged the keepers wanted to prevent.

Peanuts, a male bear, followed the feared habit of captive masculine bears and killed the cub last night.

Platypus of Australia, odd in many ways, since it has fur, lays eggs and stings like a snake.

"Sub-human anthropoids have more and of course, better teeth than man, and the pre-anthropoids, such as the fossilized lemurs found in South Dakota, had more teeth than anthropoid apes have."

Not only have teeth deteriorated, but man's jaws are growing smaller and his tooth loss from pyorrhea and dental cares is steadily increasing.

Dr. Brekhuis holds out no great hope that the trend of tooth condition will reverse itself. He believes teeth are more likely to get worse.

Migraine Is Individual

Depends on Kind of Person You Are

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Boston, April 24 (AP)—Migraine, man's worst type of headache, is an individual misfortune; that is, the headache depends on what kind of a person you are.

This summarizes the conclusions today of some of America's foremost doctors, gathered in a panel discussion of migraine before the American College of Physicians.

There is not one cure for migraine, but many. The difficulty is to discover the cure for any victim, and the misfortune is that it is still too difficult to tell for many of the victims.

"Size up what sort of individual you are dealing with," said Dr. William G. Lennox, of Boston. "Migraine often appears in the driving sort of person, the perfectionist, the one who must do what he wants even if it does cause a headache."

Biggest Munitions Plant Begins Work Three Weeks Early

Shop to Produce 600,000 Pounds of Smokeless Powder Daily, Employ 10,000 Persons

Charlestown, Ind., April 24 (AP)—The world's biggest powder plant, which sprung up in less than eight months in the southern Indiana countryside, begins operation today 23 days ahead of schedule.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., planned to start the first of six production lines in an $86,548,000 factory it is building on 5,500 acres outside of this town. It will employ nearly 10,000 and turn out 600,000 pounds of smokeless powder a day.

Lieut. Col. R. E. Hardy, construction and operating officer, said that builders had beaten the May 17 deadline for the start of production by expanding the construction force last week to a high of 26,756 workers. The plant at capacity can supply an army of more than 1,000,000, he declared.

Main Reason Is Britain Gave Bond To Assist Greece

If John Bull Had Run Out, He Would Have Lost Every Friend He Has in World

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Freeman Special News Service)

Even as the final throes of defeat grip the allies in the battle of Greece the London press is raising the call for an accounting of Britain's whole Balkan adventure, and this is being echoed in Australia, whose sons have played such a heroic and bloody part in holding the right wing of the allied line.

Certainly there are some points that can stand a bit of clearing up. One of the chief questions which appears to have been puzzling America was rather well summed up by a highly placed newspaperman who flung at me with some acerbity:

"What I want to know is why the deuce the British got mixed up in this Balkan mess when they must have known from the start that the chances were they would be smashed."

Well, that's a fair query, so let's see what we can make of it. First off, strange though it seems, the British participation has been largely for political rather than military reasons. It's true that the odds were greatly against the allies being able to stop the Hitlerite war-machine, although there was always the chance that luck might give them a break, and permit the opening up of a new front against the Germans.

However, the fundamental reason for Britain's action lay in the fact that she had given her bond to aid Greece against aggression. The Greeks didn't need any help to give the Nazis a beating, but when the Nazis started to pour a million men down through the mountain passes the Hellenes were ready for the British to fulfill their obligation.

Would Have Lost Friends

Now if there are cynical readers who believed that the English would keep their word only if it served their own purpose, there is this to consider — What would world opinion have said of Britons if they had run out on their little ally? The answer is that it might have cost John Bull every friend he had.

Anyway, John kept his bond. Things had been going so well in Libya that he could release troops for the Balkan show.

He appears to have landed some 60 to 80 thousand men with full equipment in Greece and was preparing to send many more when without warning the Germans started their whirlwind conquest of the Libyan territory which the British had so recently conquered. That halted the sending of more troops to Greece, although it's doubtful whether the outcome would have been much different had the British been able to provide double the number.

The credit side of the allied balance sheet does look slim, but if you take the trouble to examine it more closely you will find some surprising items which are favorable. For instance:

Herr Hitler has been forced against his will to fight for something which he had expected to get for nothing. Without the Yugoslav, Greek and British resistance he would have been able to achieve his conquest of these Balkan states by telephone—as he is now trying to do with Turkey and Spain.

Smooth Run Interrupted

The Balkan upheaval has interrupted the smooth run of his assault on the British Isles—the crucial operation of the whole war.

The Nazis have lost heavily in casualties and in equipment.

They have disrupted agriculture throughout the great food producing countries of the Balkans. Yugoslavia is a cripple on their hands—her fertile lands, untilled, her industries stopped, her communications destroyed or dislocated.

What is perhaps more important, the Hitlerites have burned up rivers of precious gasoline, and used lubricating oil which they couldn't afford.

In this connection I hear from an excellent source that even before the battle of the Balkans started, the Germans were short 58 per cent of requirements in gasoline for their airplanes and ground machines, and more than that in the all important lubricating oil which is the life-blood of industry. And again I heard what I have heard oil experts say before—that Hitler is in desperate need of oil, and if he can't find it somewhere quickly he may lose the war on that score alone.

That's one reason why his eyes are turning towards the Near East, with its great petroleum lakes.

On the whole the allies have done a lot of damage. Of course, Hitler has achieved much, but we have discussed his gains before, and today's column deals with questions which critics will want the British government to answer.

Russia reports that nearly 7,000,000 male and female peasants in the country have been trained as tractor drivers, combine operators, chauffeurs, farm executives, bookkeepers, technicians, agronomists and other skilled workers.

The first ferry will leave Rhinecliff at 7:20 o'clock Sunday morning, while the last ferry will leave at 11 o'clock that night.

R. A. F. Raids Nazi Power Station in Northwest Region

Prussian City, Known for Glass, Leather, etc., Is Subjected to Fierce Bombing Attack

London, April 24 (AP)—R.A.F. bombers scored direct hits on an important power station at Ibbenburen in northwest Germany in a daylight raid yesterday, the air ministry announced today.

A "violent explosion was started in the main building of the plant," the ministry reported. Ibbenburen is a Prussian city in Westphalia, 14 miles west of Osnabruck. It long has been known as an industrial center turning out leather, glass and other products. The official announcement said the R.A.F. yesterday also raided the Dutch island of Terschelling, machine-gunned Nazi troops, hit several ships with the probable destruction of three, and returned to the assault last night in a "determined attack" on the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst at Brest, France.

As in the past, the communiqué did not claim hits on the German warships, saying that full observation of the results of the raid was not possible.

Le Havre Is Bombed
Le Havre likewise was subjected to a night assault and the air ministry said there too many fires were started.

The British said one plane was lost yesterday. The Germans came over the channel for daylight raids on England today after striking Plymouth heavily for the third consecutive night.

Two Luftwaffe bombers were destroyed over Plymouth and two more Nazi craft were downed today, the air ministry announced. In Plymouth the Nazi bombs churned anew the wreckage left by the previous raids, and caused at least 12 deaths. Eight bodies were taken from a garden shelter which was buried intact to the roof of a house. Two raiding bombers were reported shot down.

(Informed Germans said the naval base at Portsmouth also was attacked by the Luftwaffe.)

An authoritative source emphasized that Britain still has adequate western port facilities to receive war materials from the United States, despite Germany's systematic assault on those ports in the last six months.

This source said there was no British port where ships could not get in and out.

Operators Predict Further Delay in Opening of Mines

(By The Associated Press)

Further delay in getting soft coal mines back into operation was predicted today by coal operators and the United Mine Workers, while reports to the War Department blamed the stoppage for "drastic" curtailment of defense production.

Charles O'Neill, speaking for northern mine operators, and John L. Lewis, U.M.W. chief, agreed in statements at New York that certification of the dispute to the defense mediation board by Secretary Perkins earlier today could only mean "further delay."

Lewis said Miss Perkins should have waited until the public had "a chance to evaluate" the refusal of southern operators to go along with the union and northern operators.

O'Neill spoke of "the great and terrifying rapidly" with which the coal supply situation was deteriorating. War Department officials said reports from army branches throughout the country blamed the stoppage for "drastic" curtailment in the output of ammonia, steel, wool, cotton textiles and other products essential to the defense effort.

Among the reports: At least eight major blast furnaces have been shut down, and five to ten more will be closed on Saturday unless the coal shortage is swiftly relieved.

Steel ingot production will have been cut more than 1,000,000 tons by April 28, and more than 2,500,000 tons a month by May 5.

Three large producers of ammonia, including the Solway process Company at Hopewell, Va., will require resumed production of coal shortly to keep going. Ammonia is used in T.N.T. and other high explosives. Many other firms were named.

Virtually all army ordnance districts except Birmingham notified the department that major steel producers were being affected by the shortage.

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, told reporters that "it is getting to the point now where time is quite a factor on coal." Incidentally a presidential trip to Warm Springs, Ga., is being held up by the coal situation.

Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) of the House labor committee asked the rules committee today to pigeonhole the Vinson Bill designed to reduce defense strikes, asserting that it was "an anti-labor bill."

Other labor developments included: A strike of undisclosed extent by A. F. L. construction workers on defense projects in the San Diego area was announced by the building trades council there. Wage demands of 18,000 workers were before the Navy Department.

Uptown Business Men Decide They Are Against Meters

mon courtesy in enforcement of that law we found many of our customers were being eliminated and we felt that perhaps parking meters would be a solution to the problem," continued Mr. Rowe.

Since the uptown association voted to favor a trial of parking meters many customers have openly expressed resentment for the meter plan. This expression of opposition has become so near unanimous that the members of the association have reversed their opinion and believe it best to drop even a trial of meters.

"We Are Opposed"
"When the one hour parking ordinance was put into effect we felt it would eliminate congestion in the shopping areas but it has driven people from our city and business has suffered," Mr. Rowe continued. "We are therefore opposed to it now. Following our vote to have a trial of parking meters we found that the public was not taking kindly to the meter plan and we now desire to go on record as opposing their installation," said the president of the uptown association.

Mr. Rowe said not only were the merchants opposed to parking meters but a majority of them were in favor of rescinding the one hour parking in the business area and allowing unrestricted parking. He intimated that a resolution would be offered in the Common Council for removal of the one hour parking law.

"Let us have unrestricted parking and advertise to the public that people may come to Kingston to shop without fear of getting a parking ticket. Let the restriction be removed and then allow parking as long as a customer desires," said Mr. Rowe.

Several merchants, since the parking meter controversy has arisen, have expressed a belief that the present hour parking ordinance has been too severely enforced and that shoppers resent the "lack of common courtesy" displayed by the police officials.

Mr. Rowe stated that when the Uptown Association asked for enforcement of the hour parking law, it had been done in the hopes that the clerks and store owners would be compelled to observe the parking law but that out of town people would be shown courtesy and consideration so as not to create ill will toward the city and drive away business.

with drawn guns, said Cab Driver Homer Liebowitz, and started to run. Patrolman George Schuck started pursuit and fired several shots before he was dropped with a bullet from a bandit gun. Liebowitz said he picked up the officer's revolver to continue the chase but Schuck directed him not to fire.

The robbers divided, two running in one direction and the third rounding the corner into Central Park south. At gunpoint he ordered a chauffeur and his woman employer out of a parked limousine and jumped in behind the wheel. The car collided with another after moving but a few feet and the bandit shot himself in the head when other police closed in on him.

Welcome Rain Comes To City During Night

A welcome rain broke over Kingston last night with a total precipitation of 23 of an inch, according to the records in the city engineer's office at the city hall.

This month has been unusual in many ways, and but slightly over two inches of rain has fallen so far this month in the city. The official records show a total rainfall up to noon today of 2.41 inches.

The lowest temperature recorded yesterday was 33 degrees while the highest point reached that afternoon by the official city thermometer was 65 degrees. Today was somewhat warmer than yesterday with the lowest temperature recorded during the night of 45 degrees.

State Will Mark $10,000,000 to Aid In Road Building

Governor Vetoes Measure to Increase Pensions of Police, Quotes Pension Group

Albany, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—New York State put up $10,000,000 today to finance highway improvements for national defense, with the understanding any expenditures will be repaid by the federal government.

Signing a bill appropriating that amount, Governor Lehman said the measure "will not increase the state budget."

Work needed in military areas would be done by the state highway department with state funds. The federal government then will reimburse the state, the governor said.

Meantime the governor vetoed, on recommendation of the state pension commission and the State Conference of Mayors, a bill which would have increased pensions of police throughout the state, permitting them optional retirement after 25 years service or at age 60.

Lehman quoted the state pension commission as saying the measure would force local governments to increase their contributions to the state retirement system "approximately 50 per cent, without increasing efficiency of service."

"I am advised that any municipality which voluntarily wishes to give its policemen the benefits of this bill may do so under the present law," the governor said.

He also vetoed a bill which would have authorized him to provide guards for New York property owned by other states, at the request of the foreign state.

Other bills approved: Continue for two years the ban on deficiency judgments in mortgage foreclosures, originally enacted simultaneously with the 1933 emergency mortgage moratorium.

Establish a minimum salary for state prison wardens of $5,000 annually, with $500 yearly increases to a maximum $8,000 pay. They now receive $7,000, reduced from $9,000 two years ago.

Provide for licensing slaughterhouses outside New York city at an annual fee of $5 and, to curb disease from infected pork, make it illegal to feed hogs uncooked offal from such sources.

Protect unemployment insurance benefits against claims of attorneys for services rendered in their collection.

What Congress Is Doing Today

(By The Associated Press) Senate

In recess. Elections committee studies contest over West Virginia Senate seat. Defense investigating committee hears report on army camp building program.

House

Routine session. Secretary Morgenthau explains new treasury tax proposals to ways and means committee. Rules committee considers procedure for debate on Vinson defense labor bill.

Yesterday

Senate in recess. House passed minor bills. When Miss M. Watson, a nurse, was carried out to sea while swimming at Opaumama, New Zealand, men and women formed a human rope team and battled the heavy surf for nearly an hour before they rescued her.

Hong Kong, China, celebrated its Centenary Week quietly with special issue of stamps, having decided to postpone its big celebration with a carnival program until after the war.

WOUNDS CHILD BRIDE, SLAYS SELF

Benjamin Longo, 21, (left) wounded his secret bride, Yolanda Goglia Longo, 14, (right) and then shot himself to death. Philadelphia police reported. Detective Sgt. John C. Curran said the tragedy was a death pact entered into by the couple because the girl's parents, ignorant of the marriage, refused to let her see her husband.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities

By recent action of the Board of Education, all pupils in grades 1 through 12 will be furnished with textbooks during the school year 1941-42 and thereafter. Plans are underway to purchase books which are now in possession of the pupils. In some subjects books which are old or which do not meet existing standards will be replaced by new ones. In general, however, there will be little change. The average life of a textbook is four years and the average cost is about $8 per high school pupil and $4.50 per elementary pupil.

The chief advantage of this is that the pupils will have their books the day school opens. Under present conditions, many pupils have been unable to purchase their books until the semester was well advanced. A majority of families have more than one child in school and, therefore, an added burden.

This provision includes textbooks only and does not provide for pencils and pens, ink, paper, notebooks and workbooks.

Activities

The school tennis courts have been put in excellent condition under the supervision of Maynard DeWitt and will soon be available for play. Plans are underway to form an after school tennis club for boys and girls. This will probably be the beginning of an interschool tennis team for next season.

Staff members of the school newspaper "Flying Goose", will attend the Duso Press Conference at Middletown May 3, according to Herbert Poppel, Editor-in-Chief. This publication has become a real mirror of student opinion as well as a reliable source of information under the direction of Muriel Barry, advisor.

The Junior and Senior Classes are planning a combined dance for the evening of May 23. The affair for which an outstanding orchestra is being engaged will be semi-formal. Those serving on the committee are, Martin Burrows, Irene Enderley, Herbert Poppel and Mary Van Wagenen.

In the intra-mural baseball league, the Giants under the leadership of Ed Brush defeated the Indians captained by Matthew Rauch. This sport which is played after school hours is popular.

With the advent of warm spring weather, the archery range in the rear of the school is seeing constant usage on the part of the girls enrolled in this activity. This group has recently acquired some new equipment including bows, arrows and a new target face. Mrs. Vivian Darling, advisor, has expressed herself as being very well pleased with their progress.

Tells How to Control Black-Rot of Grapes

Geneva, N. Y., April 24—Early spring removal and destruction of shriveled grapes which harbor the over-wintering spores of the black-rot fungus coupled with three or four well-timed applications of bordeaux mixture will check losses from black-rot in New York vineyards, according to Dr. R. F. Suit, plant disease specialists at the Experiment Station here. Black-rot is rated the most troublesome disease of grapes in this State.

Shriveled berries should be removed from the vines at pruning time and the vineyard should be plowed in the spring to cover up any mummified berries with three or four inches of soil, says Dr. Suit. This will reduce the disease carry-over so that the sprays will give better results.

Timing the Sprays

The spray schedule for black-rot begins with an application of a bordeaux mixture containing 8 pounds of copper sulfate, 8 pounds of lime, and 100 gallons of water just before blooming time and again immediately after bloom. These applications are followed with a third treatment made two weeks after bloom, and if the disease was severe the year before, by a fourth application made four weeks after bloom.

"When spraying for black-rot, the vines should be sprayed from both sides of the row, and the bunches as well as the leaves should be covered," says Dr. Suit, who continues as follows: "Recent experiments indicate that the concentration of the bordeaux mixture may be reduced to 4-4-100 if a thorough job of spraying is done, especially if the new type hooded boom is used for spraying. This same spray schedule will also control downy and powdery mildews and will aid in the control of the deadarm disease of grapes. This latter trouble can be helped further by pruning out and burning any branches that show wilting or dying."

Man—I never told lies when I was a boy.
Son—When did you begin, father?

Many of us wish we were as rich as people think we are.
"Com-pan-ee, aten-shun!" bawled the drill sergeant to the rookie squad. "Com-pan-ee, lift up your left leg and hold it straight out in front of you!"
By mistake, one soldier held up his right leg, which brought it side by side with his neighbor's left leg.
"Aw right," shouted the sergeant, when he noticed this, "who's the wise guy over there holding up both legs?"

Just a Hilbilly
Just a "hilbilly," plain and true,
Loving the simple things;
Finding in beauty, when day is through,
Peace that his labor brings.
Just a "hilbilly," honest and kind,
Sharing with one and all;
Never too busy or proud to find
Joy in each home-hallowed wall.
Just a "hilbilly," good to the core,
Friendly, and loving life;
God bless the "hilbills," and
Give us more
Like them in this world of strife.

"I had an awful narrow escape from the doghouse last night," remarked a man. "A bunch of the boys had got together for a little poker session, and I didn't get home until 4 a. m. I quietly undressed and was just about to get into bed when my wife murmured sleepily:
"Is that you, Fido?"
And fellows, I had the presence of mind to go over on my hands and knees and lick her hand."

Trying—The fellow who has only moderate ability, but who hustles and strives with every ounce of effort, usually gets much farther than the fellow who has great ability, but who shirks and makes little effort to use it. The man who tries is the man who flies.

Ned—Sure! There's nothing like a little mustard on hot dogs.

Transcript Will Suspend

Boston, April 23 (AP)—The Boston Transcript, one of New England's outstanding newspapers during its 111-year history, announced at noon today that it would suspend publication on April 30. Richard N. Johnson, the publisher, said in an editorial statement that the paper's "five-cent price in the sharply competitive two-cent Boston field had failed to produce the necessary revenue to continue." He said circulation revenue increased after the higher price was instituted in 1939, but that advertising had declined.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDEMAN

YESTERDAY: Nothing seems to work out just as Eileen Gardner planned it. Instead of marrying Jordan Estill, she took a job with a little radio station for the sake of the "contacts." And now Jordan has returned with an offer of a large organization—and marriage. It is what Eileen wanted, and still not what she wanted. And she has had to put Jordan off with a promise to give him an answer that night.

Chapter Nine Voice From Afar

SHE stared at him. "I always thought I was ambitious. I always thought I wanted to get places and have a career," she said slowly. "Don't I?"
Naturally Jordan had no idea what she was talking about. "I certainly always thought so," he said, smiling. He was nearly sure he had won. And suddenly Eileen was nearly sure, too. She was on the edge of saying, "Don't wait. I've been going around with an insane idea in my mind. I'm sane now, and we'll be married and I'll do concert work till the babies come." She had opened her lips to say it when Jordan rose.

"All right," he said patiently—yet rather contentedly, also.

"I'll see you at dinner, I suppose. Oh, I forgot to tell you, some of the crowd said they were driving over in time to dine and hear you sing tonight. They're all set up about you."

"Who?"

"Let's see. Lucille said . . ."

She did not hear the rest. Lucille Anders, Lucille, in her quiet dogged way, was making hay with Jordan while the sun shone. And what a good marriage that would have been; Lucille with a little money to help carry the expenses, no ambitions beyond making Jordan happy and giving him a background that would advance him. What a pity that Jordan wanted something else and was going to get it.

She was glad to see the group of old friends at dinner. They treated her, already, as if she was different; some of the girls were a little edgy; some were more affectionate than was normal. Lucille seemed just the same. The men were devoted. Her air toward Jordan was as unconcerned as if she were a stranger. Eileen was in position and her companion ready, threw back his chest and spoke into his mike.

"And now, folks, we are going to have our accustomed pleasure. You are going to hear the fresh, girlish voice of Denver's pet songstress in a group of today's love songs. Our Eileen will sing a group of songs—songs that will make your heart lilt and your feet want to move. A group of her college mates are right here, listening, tonight, so she's in top form. All right, Eileen, my dear."

He took her hand and led her a half inch farther toward the microphone. She stood, head thrown back, her plain wide-skirted white graduation organdy billowing round her, her broad ribboned hair swung from her arm.

She knew she looked rather gone-with-the-Wind, but the Weigands insisted on it, and it was becoming. She sang the songs he had given, one after another, and as he had said, there was more verve to it than usual tonight. "Over the Rainbow"—"Love is the Sweetest Thing"—a couple more.

Suddenly she gestured to her accompanist, pointed to a piece of music on the piano. She was going to go back to Denver in September. She was going to be a sane, hard-working concert singer who was a sane, hard-working married woman after hours. She was going to get places and help her husband get places and stop having crazy dreams. And so—and so she would sing good-bye to them.

She turned, flushed, to the mike. She stared straight ahead. Instead of the flat disk facing her she saw—after this she would shut it out—Martin's laughing face. The long gray eyes, gray and mocking, the fair hair tossed back, dusty from a hatless flight; the humble casual, living personality of the man who had caught her in his arms and danced with her for ten minutes and gone a continent away.

She sang to it:
"Someday I'll find you,
Moonlight behind you,
True to the dream I am
dreaming . . ."

Swan Song

SHE had never sung so well, and she knew it. As she finished, she heard, even through the glass, the applause of the audience grouped outside. Standing a little ahead of the others was Jordan, his face as intense and alight as hers had been.

He came forward, hands out. "Eileen, I knew—" he began. Fortunately the others were crowding around her also laughing, praising her, kissing her. There was an unusually large group of outsiders from other towns. It was ten or fifteen minutes before Jordan and Eileen could release themselves.

"Come over and get something to drink," he said to her abruptly. "Excuse me, Lucille—you get the others off Eileen's neck, will you? I have a message for her I forgot to give till now."

He led her away. "I have to know—I have to see you alone before I go back—" he began. "Is your place empty?"

"Yes." She was suddenly very tired.
He slipped a possessive arm through hers. She lifted her skirts and went docilely with him. He gave a quick order to one of the Chinese waiters as they passed, for the soft drinks that were served on the verandas.

Unexpectedly the veranda of Eileen's own place was empty. They sat down in the cool night wind. "Don't talk, you're tired," Jordan said gently. He opened the bottle for her—poured. She never knew what it was—and waited while she drank.

He bent forward. "All right, dear? All settled?"
Molly Flanagan ran up as she put her hand out to lay in Jordan's.

"Hey, Eileen, I've been lookin' all over for you," she said. "Here's the biggest bunch of telegrams and phone calls so far ever. Shouldn't wonder if they liked you."

She dropped a handful of typed messages into Eileen's lap. She glanced keenly at the man and girl, and slid away with the Irish tact where lovers are concerned. Eileen till Molly should be out of sight, made a pretense of leafing the pile over. She knew what they would be like. Fan mail was usually pretty much the same.

"You're wonderful, Eileen. We are a club of girls who always listen in on you." "I like your songs. Won't you sing 'Rock Me to Sleep, Mother,' next time? I am an old lady of eighty. I once hoped to be a singer too." "Hey, Eileen, stop going so heavy on the sweet stuff. You're tops with the hot, go to it. Al and Bill from Long."

It still got her, having those invisible people who liked her or even scolded her—she was their friend, their pal. But tonight they were not very important compared to the man who sat, impatient yet secure, his knee touching hers. She glanced at a final one before she lifted her eyes to say yes to Jordan.

"Good for you, Eileen, so you did make the mile! . . . Someday I'll find you! All the luck! Martin!"

She clutched it. She sprang up. She ran after Molly.

"Molly—Molly!"

Molly, sauntering back to the central building, stopped in surprise.

"Molly! Where did this message signed 'Martin' come from?"

From a Ship

MOLLY, in the eternal green slacks, turned, hands in pockets.
"Telegram," she said. "Good grief, kid, there were twenty telegrams signed in."

The one signed "Martin," Eileen said impatiently, running over toward her. Jordan stood, puzzled, on the porch, his hands full of the scattered papers.

"Oh, that one. I think that's a nut one. It's just off some ship. I suppose they picked us up by a freak wave."

Molly sauntered on. Fan messages were merely more things to write down, as far as she was concerned.
Eileen turned in the bright moonlight and came slowly back to where Jordan still stood, sorting the pile of fan papers from scholastic habit. Eileen always remembered how tidy they were, how straight and thin and neat he was in his blue serge suit, how the light shone on his glasses. She knew what she was going to say, by the time she was close to him. There was nothing else that she could say.

"It's no use, Jordan," she said. "I'm sorry. I—maybe I haven't played fair with you. But I can't marry you. Not now. Not ever. I—have to go on with the radio."

He stared at her.
"But—I thought—"

"I know. I didn't mean to have you think. Oh, Jordan, I know I'm crazy. I told you I was . . . Jordan—you'll marry somebody else, somebody better for you than I am, somebody that won't want any of the crazy things I want."

"Are you engaged to somebody else?" he demanded. He gripped the papers tight, but he was taking it steadily.

"Then—" Jordan said. "I shan't give up hope. As long as it's merely that you want to go on here, and are so wrapped up in all this nonsense of fan mail and microphone, you'll come back to me. You love me, whether you know it or not. You're publicity bug that gets so many people has you. But you have sense enough to get over it."

He kissed her, there in the moonlight. She let him, remorsefully. He was entirely wrong. Or very nearly.

Highland Man Fined $50 For Driving While Drunk

Fred P. Berrian, 63, of Highland was fined $50 on a plea of guilty to the charge of driving a car while intoxicated when his hearing came up Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Walter R. Seaman of Highland. Berrian was arrested by Sergeant E. J. Hulse on route 2-W on April 11 and an adjournment was taken to April 14 at 2 p. m. when a further adjournment was taken until Tuesday.
Sergeant Hulse charged the Highland man with operation of car while under the influence of liquor and charged that when he attempted to halt the driver of the Berrian car his troop car was forced to run off the road into a field.

At the hearing Tuesday afternoon Berrian was represented by A. W. Lent. Several witnesses were ready to appear, as well as Dr. Meekins who had examined Berrian on the day of the arrest. On his plea of guilty to the charge Berrian was fined $50 which he paid and his license was suspended.

Secretary Gives Plans to Congress will be $19,000,000,000 and the new tax program was designed so that the treasury could pay cash for at least two-thirds of these costs.

Asking a stiffening of the excess profits tax voted by Congress last fall, the secretary said: "No business, no American, should make inordinate and excessive profits out of this national emergency." "I hope that the bill to be written by this committee will be helpful in further reducing the evil."

"The American people do not in the least mind the burden of this country's danger," Morgenthau continued, "stands ready to take this burden in his stride. We are big and rich and strong. We are economically better able to carry this load than any other people in the world."

In order to speed defense production, Morgenthau declared, "we must hasten the reemployment of our idle resources."

"Even this increase will not be enough," he said, "as we closely approach full employment of our resources, we must take the next step of diverting to defense production more and more of the resources now engaged in satisfying our civilian needs and wants."

Noting that appropriations and authorizations for defense and the lease-lend programs now totaled $39,000,000,000, Morgenthau testified:

"Many people assume from this figure that we are going to spend most of these thirty-nine billions in the coming fiscal year. But our studies at the treasury have shown that unless we greatly speed up our production effort, not much more than twelve billions will be spent for defense purposes in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942.

Discussing the application of new taxes, Morgenthau said: "One group may urge that new taxes be imposed on labor, but not on business, while another group may argue that the rich and prosperous can afford to bear the whole loss."

"Both kinds of advice should be disregarded. The job before us is so big that all the American people must help to carry it out, in proportion to their ability to pay."

"It is un sound, especially at a time like this, to proceed on the assumption that any group of our people should be penalized or that any section should be exempted from sharing in the common task."

"We all want labor to earn their wages, the farmer to reap the fruits of his national income, and business to make a fair profit."

Three auto drivers were arrested Wednesday by the police department charged with overtime parking in the uptown business section. Ruth Granger Stewart of Green street forfeited bail when she failed to appear to answer to the charge in police court today.

Harry Pugnali of Highland, explained that he had driven his father and mother into the city to do some business on Wall street. Sentence in his case was suspended. Catherine L. Linderman of Traneck, N. J., said she had driven uptown to do some shopping and was not aware of the parking regulations. She was discharged.

Boys Are Picked Up

Robert Mayr, 16, of Yarmouth street, and another boy, under 16 years of age, were arrested last night, Mayr on a charge of disorderly conduct while the other boy was held for children's court on a charge of juvenile delinquency. The boys were picked up for loitering in the vicinity of Franklin and Prospect streets after the police department had received several complaints regarding a group of boys raising a disturbance each night on that street corner. Mayr will be arraigned later before Judge Cahill in police court.

Tells of Trip

Miss Ruth Storey of Allaben, a Fleischmanns High School senior, who has returned with the senior class on a vacation trip to Washington, D. C. was a visitor at the Broad Street Hollow School last Friday and gave an interesting account of her Washington trip to the teacher and pupils. Miss Storey showed pictures of the most interesting buildings at Washington, D. C., and something of interest to tell in connection with each. The pupils were much interested to see pictures of Smithsonian Institute, Mt. Vernon, the Washington and Lincoln Memorial, Congressional Library and the capitol building. The pupils took notes on the talk so as to have them for use in class work.

Pope Asks Prayers

Vatican City, April 24 (AP)—Pope Pius XII asked Catholics throughout the world today to pray for peace—the third such appeal of his pontificate. The appeal, made in the form of a letter addressed to Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, asked Catholics to devote the month of May to peace prayers.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign Starts Tomorrow

Dinner to Open Annual Drive for Funds

With fully a hundred representative men of the city in attendance the annual Y. M. C. A. financial drive will open Friday evening at a dinner meeting at 6:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. when final instructions will be given to the workers.

The drive this year is to raise $12,528.

May 5 is the closing day for the drive.

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin is general chairman of the budget drive and the co-chairmen are Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick and Mayor C. J. Heilmann.

While approximately $13,000 is needed to carry on effectively the work of the association in Kingston during the year, it is expected that this sum will be more than realized.

Every worker in the drive this year is well acquainted with the program of the "Y" and its work in affording healthy recreational facilities to the boys and youth of the city.

Preliminary plans for carrying on the budget drive have been made and at the meeting Friday evening the workers will be given instructions and the names of prospective donors to the "Y" fund.

Course at Y.M.C.A. To Close Tonight

Janitors Will Attend Final Session

For the past two weeks some 32 janitors of public and industrial buildings in Kingston have been busy learning all about the care of boilers, building maintenance, electrical equipment and associated problems.

The course of instruction will come to a close this evening when Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy will speak to them about fire prevention and safety. Chief Murphy will stress the importance of keeping buildings clean and free from fire hazards.

The course was opened two weeks ago at the local Y. M. C. A. by E. E. Finn, consulting engineer from New York city. Presentations on various subjects were also made by J. R. Shultz, A. Relyea, Henry E. Elting and Richard Dawe.

The course has proved so popular that Secretary George Good-fellow of the "Y", expects to repeat it again next winter, covering additional subjects.

J. F. Quinn Is Arrested On Bad Check Charge

Joseph F. Quinn, 47, was arrested in New York city last night on a warrant sworn out by Jack Feye of Wall street, charging Quinn with giving him a bad check for $50 in August, 1938. Quinn was brought back to Kingston early this morning by Officers Hoffay and Schoonmaker.

Later in police court Quinn was arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill at which time he said he desired to retain a lawyer to defend him, and the hearing was adjourned to Friday morning. Bail was fixed in the sum of $500.

According to the police department Quinn while in Kingston was engaged as a labor organizer.

Danger of Fires Is Still Present in State

Albany, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—Scattered showers only temporarily alleviated the forest fire danger in New York state today.

"Unless we have some real heavy rains the situation will be critical again within 12 hours," Forest Fire Control Supervisor Kinne Williams said. "The fire hazard will exist in the interior of the Adirondacks and the Catskills by Saturday, doubling the area."

Williams reported the most serious of yesterday's 27 fires, at Lake Monopashia, Orange county, was brought under control during the night.

The situation is most serious in Orange, Rockland and Suffolk counties, he asserted.

in victory over Greece, declaring the Italian troops had illuminated their flags "with new glory."

In London, the Laborite Daily Herald quoted diplomatic circles as saying Germany had demanded that Turkey exchange military control of the straits for a slice of Greek Thrace and was pressing the Ankara government for a quick reply.

Overnight, Nazi planes struck again at the coast of southern England and Germany said the port of Plymouth was air-raided for the third successive night. Both there and at Portsmouth, they said, a rain of bombs touched off fires and explosions.

The royal air force, hammered away again at the German battleships Scharnhorst and Goebenau in an attack on the naval base at Brest, France.

Andrew Gorton, Minnie Christian and Harmon Gorton were awarded $2,600 for a parcel of land just west of the Neversink post office. Rented for $15 a month, the owner placed a value of $4,000 on the property while the city placed a value of $1,750. Struck by Car

Henry Johnson, a carpenter of Samsonville, reported to the police department Wednesday afternoon that Peter Smith, 5, of 19 Murphy street, had been struck by his car at North Front and Green streets. The boy suffered bruises of the head, left arm, knee and shoulder. Mr. Johnson said the boy ran out from behind a parked car into his car.

Accident Reported

An automobile accident just north of the schoolhouse at Port Ewen was reported to the sheriff's office at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne on investigating found a Ford coupe badly stove up in front and with the windshield shattered. He was told that the coupe had been in collision with a truck, which had gone on its way south and that the occupants of the coupe had gone toward Kingston. A check on the car license showed that it had been issued to Joseph Wood, River Road, Port Ewen. At the Kingston Hospital it was reported that Beatrice Wood, 37, and Joseph Wood, 32, address River Road, Ulster Park, had been treated at the hospital about 8 o'clock and had been discharged, presumably their injuries not being serious.

Would Apply Nitrogen To Apple Orchards Now

Geneva, N. Y., April 24—Long-time experiments conducted by Prof. R. C. Collison, soils specialist at the State Experiment Station here who has tried out many nitrogen carriers, provide abundant evidence that nitrogenous fertilizers should be applied to apple orchards before blossoming time, especially if the slower acting carriers are to be used. Actually, there is little difference between spring and fall applications, but most of the nitrogen used in New York orchards is applied in the spring.

"Fully 90 per cent of the nitrogen carriers used in this state are represented by cyanamid, nitrate of soda, or sulfate of ammonia," says Professor Collison, who adds that, "if for any reason application is delayed to very near blossoming time, a quick-acting carrier, such as nitrate of soda or sulfate of ammonia, should be given preference."

Based on several years testing in commercial orchards, two comparatively new nitrogen carriers are also recommended by this authority. These are ammonium nitrate-lime, also offered under the trade name of "Calnitro", and "Uramon" which is described as granular urea under a new name. Phosphorus is recommended only where it is needed for the cover crop and potassium only where it has actually been demonstrated to be deficient, which up-to-date is the exception in New York State.

The amount of nitrogen to be used on the orchard this year should be indicated by the behavior of the trees last year, says Professor Collison. If the foliage color was good, the wood growth satisfactory, and the color and yield of fruit acceptable, repeat the application used last season, is his advice. Very dark foliage, excessive wood growth, and poorly colored fruit would indicate too heavy an application last season. Orchards in heavy sod may require heavier applications of nitrogen, while orchards which have been heavily mulched may need little, if any, nitrogen. Using nitrate of soda as a basis for calculation, Professor Collison recommends from 1/4 to 1/2 of a pound of carrier for each year of the tree's age on good sod, depending on vigor and past performance. For trees under cultivation, the amount should be reduced by half, while with mulched trees the application may have to be reduced still further or omitted entirely.

Charles E. Russell Dies At Washington; Prominent As One of U. S. 'Muckrakers'

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Charles Edward Russell, 80, prominent Socialist, formerly city editor of the New York World and publisher of the Chicago American and the Examiner, died here last night. He won the 1927 Pulitzer prize for biography.

Russell turned from a highly successful newspaper career in 1903 to join the "muckrakers," the coterie of journalists who for more than a decade exposed political, economic and social corruption wherever they could find it.

Russell's specialty was the corporations—as Lincoln Steffens specialized in municipal corruption and Ida Tarbell devoted her attention to the oil companies. The meat packers and the railroads were the targets of most of Russell's attacks.

He became a Socialist in 1908, being one of the first of his group to make the transition from literary radicalism to political radicalism. He was the Socialist candidate for governor of New York in 1910 and in 1912; for mayor of New York city in 1913 and for United States senator in 1914. He was nominated by his party as its presidential candidate in 1916, but refused to run.

A year later he was expelled from the party for advocating the entry of the United States into the World War, which his party vigorously opposed. In 1936, however, when the party split into right and left wings the rightists invited him to affiliate once more. He did so and became head of the right wing Socialist group in Washington, D. C.

He was a personal friend of President Woodrow Wilson and corresponded frequently with the White House when he was in Europe before this country entered the war. With Russell out of the Socialist party, Wilson appointed him to the diplomatic mission which went to Russia under Elihu Root after the overthrow of the Czar in 1917 to pay this country's respects to Kerensky and other revolutionary leaders. In 1918 the President sent him to London as commissioner to Great Britain on the committee on public information. And in 1919 he was a member of the President's industrial commission.

Barred by Britain and Italy
The British government by 1926 had found him objectionable. In that year he was forbidden to land at Plymouth unless he agreed not to go to Ireland; he chose to pass England without landing. This was because of his espousal of the cause of Irish republicanism. Italy previously had denied him admittance on account of his attacks on Mussolini.

Russell was born in Davenport, Iowa, September 25, 1860, the son of Edward Russell, publisher of the Davenport Gazette. He was graduated from the St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Academy in 1881.

He was married twice. His first wedding was in 1884 to Abby O. Rust of St. Johnsbury. They had

Crusader in Wide Fields
Besides his campaign against the corporations, his crusades stretched over the whole field covered by the other "muckrakers" and then some. Among the subjects he dealt with were women's suffrage, Trinity Church's tenements, southern prison camps, prison conditions in the north, the strike in the Michigan copper regions and the old New York election laws.

After a trip around the world for Everybody's Magazine, he wrote a famous series of articles on sociological studies in various countries entitled "Soldiers of the Common Good." This was published in book form in 1907 under the title of "Uprising of the Many."

Russell won the Pulitzer prize for biography in 1927 for his book, "The American Orchestra and Theodore Thomas." Music was a lifelong hobby of Russell and Thomas was his hero from boyhood. In 1924 he published a biography of Julia Marlowe.

He wrote in all 34 books, including two volumes of poetry, and scores of articles.

He was one of the last survivors of the "muckrakers," who included besides Steffens and Miss Tarbell, Henry Demarest Lloyd, Ray Stannard Baker, David Graham Phillips, Thomas W. Lawson and John L. Matthews. Steffens, in his autobiography, wrote of Russell: "He was one of the most earnest, emotional, and gifted of the 'muckrakers'."

New York, April 24 (AP)—Demand for rail stocks helped the market today after early slipping tendencies were shown by many of Wednesday's favorites.

While scattered issues refused to extend the rally of yesterday, best in more than two weeks, advances, of fractions to a point or so were plentiful near the final hour. Dealings were orderly throughout, with transfers for the full proceedings at the rate of about 450,000 shares.

Buying interest in the bond division again centered on rails. Commodities were a shade irregular.

Among stocks receiving support were Westinghouse, Chrysler, General Motors, Eastman Kodak, Bethlehem Steel, Great Northern, Nickel Plate, Santa Fe, United Aircraft, Kennecott, Loft, International Harvester and Standard Oil of N. J.

Backward now and then were U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, Phelps Dodge and International Nickel.

Given a lift in the curb were Carnation, American Cyanamid, "B" Holophone, Humble Oil, Pepsi and Sherwin Williams.

Pennant Race Settles Down; 50 Attend Nocando Banquet

Reds Gain 4th Win, Dodgers, Indians and Yanks Victors

Giants Beat Bees on Joe Orengo's Single, 5 to 4; Yanks Take 11 Innings to Trim Boston, 4-2

(By The Associated Press)
The big trains are getting the right of way now on baseball's main line after a little more than a week of confusion.
The World-Champion Cincinnati Reds, with the best pitching staff in the major leagues, have won two shutouts from the Chicago Cubs. The St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers are making their moves at the same time.

The Cleveland Indians have squeezed into a tie for the American League lead. The New York Yankees are climbing up and the Boston Red Sox are sliding down.

Thus without any particular fanfare the faces in the two big leagues are settling down for their summer's grind in just about the fashion everyone expected.

Bucky Walters pitched the Reds to their fourth straight triumph yesterday with a five-hit 5-0 conquest of the Cubs. The day before Andy Vandermeer clipped the same club 1-0 on four hits. Thus the Reds are rolling true to form and haven't even tapped Monte Pearson, their patching pickup on the Yankees.

The New York Giants still are sitting the page in the National League, but with a faltering gait that may give way at any moment. They edged out the Boston Bees yesterday by means of a four-run rally in the sixth inning. However, the tip-off is that they have used 23 pitchers in nine games.

Dodgers Win 4-0
The Brooklyn Dodgers plastered a 4-0 shutout on the Phillies with Whitlow Wyatt scattering four hits, never closer than one every other inning. In his last previous start he had held the Bees to three safeties and apparently he is sighted for a big season. The Dodgers suffered a handicap when young Pete Reiser was hit on the right cheek by a ball pitched by Ike Pearson, but X-rays showed no bones were broken and he may be back in the lineup by the time the club has to defend itself against the western invasion next week.

The St. Louis Cardinals penned the Pittsburgh Pirates again 3-1 on the three-hit pitching gem of Sam Nahem, who was the "sleeper" in last year's trade that sent Joe Medwick to the Dodgers. The only run against the young lawyer was an error coming on two errors in the eighth inning after the Cards had completed their scoring.

Cleveland cooked up a four-run inning to help Bob Feller get a 2-0 decision over the St. Louis Browns, who evidently don't have any "pitch stealers." The fireballer kept eight hits spaced, fanned eight and walked seven.

Yanks Trim Sox
At the same time the Yankees landed the Red Sox their third straight defeat 4-2, on Phil Rizzuto's homer with one on in the 11th inning. Up till then the game was a tight hurling duel between Vern Gomez, the old lefthander, and Charley Wagner, Boston's ace.

Hal Newhouser, who kept the Detroit Tigers in striking position through the early months of last summer, pitched eight-hit ball while his teammates found their hitting eye and crushed the Chicago White Sox 13-5.

The hard-hitting Philadelphia Athletics crammed nine runs into the inning for an 11-7 triumph over the Washington Senators, who made a dozen hits themselves but committed five errors. The 15-hit offensive included two homers by Catcher Frankie Hayes, with the bases loaded.

Tigers Can't Stand Up Under Loss of Hank Greenberg

Detroit Fans See Their Favorites Hit Skids When Slugger Joins Army

HANK GREENBERG

Detroit, April 24 (AP)—Doleful talk today in Detroit—at any cigar store, tavern or street corner: "Guess the Tigers can't win now."

"None, not with Greenberg out of there."

The inevitable had come. Hank Greenberg, great slugger of the Detroit Tigers, received his formal orders for induction into the army.

The American League's reputedly highest paid player at $50,000 a year has only 13 playing days left this season with Detroit, and the Tigers definitely are no longer expected to retain their championship.

Local Draft Board No. 23 notified Greenberg to report for induction May 7 at the induction center here. On that day the Tigers have planned to raise their league pennant to the top of the flag pole in Briggs Stadium.

The departure of Greenberg means the breaking up of the most powerful home run combination since the time of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees. It leaves Rudy York alone as the swat king of Detroit.

Perth Amboy, N. J.—"Red" Cochrane, 143, Elizabeth, N. J., outpointed Rego Dell, 147, Scranton, Pa., (8).

Leiber on Way To Talk Business

Flies From Chicago for Confab With Cub's Boss

Tucson, Ariz., April 24 (AP)—Hank Leiber, sole remaining major league holdout, took a plane for Chicago today to talk things over with Jim Gallagher, Cubs general manager, but the ace outfielder's demeanor was anything but indicative that a deal was in the air.

The husky blond, a National League fixture since 1935, said he was making the trip at Gallagher's request and at his own expense.

Throughout the past season the Nocando League was operated very successfully by its officers, who were Jack Martin, president; Bill Mergendahl, vice president; Al Goldman, treasurer; and Ken Van Etten, secretary.

The league ended with Fredericks on top of the rest of the clubs with 26 victories and 16 losses for a percentage of .619. Individual

Third Dinner Ends Season for Keglers; Keresman Speaker

Mayor Heiselman, Charles Tiano Also Speak; Jim Norton Toastmaster at Schoentag's

Following a high-low tournament held at Emerick's Recreation alleys Wednesday evening about 50 members of the Nocando League traveled to Schoentag's and enjoyed the ceremonies at the annual banquet which closed the activities of the bowling loop for the season.

Invited guests at the banquet were Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, James Norton, city engineer; Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Bowling Association, and Charles Tiano, secretary of the association.

Last night's function was the third banquet held by the members of the Nocando League. Unlike other bowling circuits in the city the Nocando offers three banquets every season. One at the start of the campaign, another during the middle of the year when all teams are reshuffled, and one ending the activities of the season.

The aim of the officials of the league is to make sure that expert bowlers do not carry off all the honors in the final standings. On this basis the Nocando League has been judged about the most unique one in this vicinity. Top honors this season were taken by Orville Carney, who was 24th on the list of all bowlers.

Martin Welcomes All

Following a word of welcome by Jack Martin, president of the Nocando League last night, James Norton was introduced and then assumed the toastmaster's post. Mr. Norton expressed his appreciation for the honor of attending the banquet and voiced his hope that bowling would continue on its high level for many years to come.

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman was introduced and once again declared that bowling serves as a good example of Americanism and offers much in the way of good recreation and good fellowship for all those connected with the sport.

The mayor went on to voice the progress of bowling from its infancy and linked it with the present-day rating as one of the finest sports at our call. He expressed his desire to see the sport remain at its present peak. Before closing his address Mayor Heiselman told his listeners that all should continue to support bowling in the future.

Peter Keresman was introduced and on behalf of the Kingston Bowling Association told of the great influence of the sport on every day life. He noted that the K. B. A. was indeed grateful to the Nocando League for its activity in the bowling game and its help in keeping the sport on a high plain.

Another speaker was Charles Tiano, who also spoke on behalf of the Kingston Bowling Association. The secretary voiced the appreciation, too, of the manner in which the Nocando League was organized and their individual help to the bowling activities in the city and vicinity.

The league ended with Fredericks on top of the rest of the clubs with 26 victories and 16 losses for a percentage of .619. Individual records for the circuit included: James Norton, individual high single of 257; Jack Martin, individual high three games, 627; Fredericks, team high single game, 956; Fredericks, team high three games, 2628. Bill Mergendahl ended the standings with the best average of 182.17 in 71 games.

E. Ballard, W. Mergendahl, A. Goldman, H. Emerick and A. Curtis finished the second half standings with the high averages. All players in the Nocando League were awarded prizes last night.

Texans Anxious About Drake Race

Hope to Make Comeback on Des Moines Track

Des Moines, Ia., April 24 (AP)—A quartet of sun-tanned Texas lads — Morris Barefield, Fred Ramsdell, Bill Seay and Mac Umstattd—is gunning for a comeback in the sprint medley, feature attraction of the first-day program at the thirty-second annual Drake relays tomorrow.

The University of Texas speedsters two weeks ago rammed through the event in 3:24, world record-breaking time, at their own relays. A week later, however, at the Kansas games, where the Longhorns ran in cold weather, Texas was beaten by Indiana's hustling Hoosiers in a 3:25.2 race.

Officers and Guests at Nocando Banquet

About 50 bowlers of the Nocando League assembled at Schoentag's last evening to wind-up activities for the season. Pictured are a number of the keepers who were awarded prizes and the special invited guests at the banquet. Seated from left to right are Everett Ballard, second half high average scorer, who posted 179.5 in 30 games; Mayor Conrad J. Heuselmann, Jack Martin, president of the Nocando League, and who registered an individual high three game score of 627; and Al Goldman, treasurer of the circuit. Goldman was third in the high average scorers in the league with 177.9 in 42 games. Standing are Jim Norton, who had the high single score of 257; Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Bowling Association; Charles Tiano, secretary of the association, and Ken Van Etten, secretary of the Nocando League.

Winners of High-Low Tournament

Capt. Messinger Traces Progress of Bowling at Mercantile Loop Banquet

Start for Sport

Approximately 80 bowlers and guests attended the annual banquet of the Mercantile Bowling League Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Besides the awarding of the many trophies the assembly heard Capt. Edwin Messinger, officer in charge of the basketball team at West Point, and former Kingston High School athlete.

Following the banquet itself Howard Shurter, president of the loop, introduced George Goodfellow, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who on behalf of that organization, welcomed all to the "Y" and urged their support in the coming drive.

"If we receive your cooperation in this forthcoming drive," Goodfellow declared, "there is no doubt that we will be able to do much in the way of improving the alleys here." President Shurter later introduced Principal Clarence Damm of Kingston High School, a very close friend of Capt. Messinger.

Principal Damm introduced Capt. Messinger to the bowlers and invited guests. The West Point officer then took charge of the program and went on to relate the history and progress of the bowling sport which started many years ago. Throughout his address Capt. Messinger used Frank G. Menke's book "Encyclopedia on Sports" to give the bowlers some vital statistics on bowling.

for competition for just the sport of it.

"Prior to 1900 pin bowling was a serious part of church life. Later the students participated in it as a game. Years later Martin Luther made the first move to organize the sport and establishing the use of nine pins. Previous to this time the contestants used from nine to 17 pins in a game."

"Bowling now quite regulated," said the speaker, "because a large part in many activities—churches used it, social gatherings followed the progress of a greatly. In the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries bowling spread from Germany into the Low Lands and Austria and other nearby countries of Europe. In 1835 and 1840 bowling made its debut in America, mainly around New York, New England and now farther south than Washington."

Around this time gamblers came in and nearly ruined whatever progress the game could possibly make. In 1895 the American Bowling Congress, the same which exists today, was organized. This helped greatly in the progress of bowling. Then in 1901 the first championship tournament was held and although the actual competitors numbered far less than today, it was really the start of the sport on a high grade.

Following Capt. Messinger's address President Shurter took over once more and introduced Al Rejones, vice president of the Mercantile Bowling League who then awarded the trophies to the players. These awards were published in Tuesday's Freeman.

After the presentations it was decided to elect officers for the 1941-42 season. The following were elected: Howard Shurter, re-elected president; Harry Heard, re-elected treasurer, and Randy Kieffer, secretary.

Lexington Race To Fix Favorites

Whirlaway and Our Boots Battle in Derby Prelim

Lexington, Ky., April 24 (AP)—Whirlaway, Our Boots, two other three-year-olds and the mud have a date today which is expected to produce the favorite for the Kentucky Derby May 2.

The "other" horses drew scant attention as racing fans began converging on nearby Keeneland track to see last year's top money-winning juveniles compete for the fifth time, in the $10,000-added, mile and an eighth blue grass stakes.

MacMitchell Rated Favorite in Annual Penn Relays Event

Kane Also Featured on the Four Events Slated in Nation's Major Meet at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, April 24 (AP)—Two of the fastest trackmen in the nation tomorrow and Saturday will be Leslie MacMitchell, New York University's 1. C. 4-A, mile champion, and Campbell Kane, the big ten mile national half-mile titleholder from Indiana.

None of the 2,000 schoolboy and collegiate athletes competing in the 47th annual Penn Relay carnival will be called upon to do as much important running as the two milers.

They are listed to carry the baton in four races—the sprint and distance medleys and the two and four mile relays. They'll cheer their teams in all four races, which means that each will cover a mile and a half per day during the sprint medley relay for a half-mile final lap and the distance medley an anchor lap of one mile.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, April 24 (AP)—One of the Boston papers started something when it charged Notre Dame is raiding Boston College football talent. . . . New England very much let up about it. . . . Frank Leahy denied everything from South Bend. . . . Trainer Max Hirsch has just about made up his mind not to start Dupone (which fell by the wayside last week) in Saturday's Wood Memorial, eastern section of the derby preview. . . . Right up to this minute, Joe Louis' ring earnings over a seven and a half year stretch are $1,789,463.45. . . . And those pay days with the Meenas, Baser, Simon, Conn and Nova may shoot him over the two million mark. . . . Bad weather cost the Tigers 30 grand during the first week of the season.

Golfer Francis Ouimet, one of the new owners of the Boston Red Sox, is a ball player, but aspired to be a ball player, but soured on the idea after walking three miles to the nearest playing Music lovers can tune in next Sunday night if they want to hear Charlie Grimm play a left-handed banjo and Loy Novickoff a right-handed harmonica. . . . Edna Mead, who managed Henry Armstrong to three titles in a little more than a year, will turn promoter if he can get control of one of the small clubs on the subway circuit. . . . Some of our best boxing minds say Billy Conn will find himself on the outside looking in so far as meeting Louis in June is concerned. . . . Joe Gould seems to have Kaye Morgan, the Detroit lightweight, off to a successful comeback.

Newspaper Group Prepares to Finish Convention Today

Col. Knox and C. R. Smith Are Slated to Speak at A. N. P. A. Dinner Session Tonight

New York, April 24 (AP)—After two days of shop talk, with the emphasis on newspapers' responsible role in the defense emergency, more than 600 delegates to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association's 35th annual convention prepared to wind up their business today.

Col. Frank Knox, secretary of the navy and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, will be the principal speaker at the 20th annual A.N.P.A. Bureau of Advertising dinner tonight, together with C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines.

The A.N.P.A. management reported that despite dwindling of Scandinavian newsprint imports during 1940 and the demand made upon North American mills to supply the imports eliminated, the capacity of these mills "amply provided for the missing overseas shipments."

The cessation of Scandinavian imports resulted, however, the report said, "in greatly increased newsprint costs to many publishers."

"Curtailed of Canadian exports was largely responsible for that industry operating at about 78 per cent of its annual potential capacity."

The editors and publishers were told that "publishers in their own interest, in cooperation with the manufacturers and following the recommendation of the A.N.P.A. avoided any shortage by ordering in equal monthly installments."

"It is equally important during coming year that the policy be pursued so as to continue to avoid shortage," the report said.

Legislative Report
W. F. Wiley, Cincinnati (Ohio) Enquirer, chairman of both the committee on wage and hour law and the federal laws committee, reported on legislation passed during the last year as it affects newspaper publishers.

"Legislation to which too few publishers have given proper emphasis is the protection of newspapermen refusing to divulge confidential sources of information," Wiley said. "A few states have such legislation on the statute books and attempts have been made to secure federal action. Each year for a number of years a bill has been introduced to protect newspapermen in this matter, but the bill has never been reported out of committee."

Wiley reported that with the enactment in Indiana, last February, of a law protecting newspapermen in such cases, nine states—Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—now have such laws.

Friendly Is Speaker
The convention yesterday heard Edwin S. Friendly, business manager of the New York Sun, and chairman of the Bureau of Advertising, make an appraisal of the bureau's work.

"Media records computes the money value of national advertising carried in 1940 by newspapers in all cities of 10,000 population or over at $161,000,000 which was 5.9 per cent more than the $152,000,000 total for 1939, and 8.2 per cent higher than the 1938 volume of $149,000,000," Friendly said.

William A. Thomson, director of the bureau, reported to the convention that the 96 largest magazine advertisers spent nearly 14 per cent more in newspapers in 1940 than in 1938, and the 84 largest radio advertisers, who in 1939 reduced their newspaper expenditures by $260,000, added to their newspaper appropriations in 1940 by more than $3,580,000.

Among exhibits at Moscow's last agricultural show were over 500 varieties of grains and legumes, 473 of fodder crops, 167 of industrial crops and medicinal plants, 414 of potatoes and vegetables and 724 of fruits and berries.
